Things Theatrical.

THE PARK.—The indisposition of MADAME CARADORI ALLAN prevented her appearance on Monday evening in La Sonnambula, and Love in a Village was accordingly substituted, Mr. BROUGH sustaining the part of Hawthorn. The house, owing to the disappointmont, was thin, though the music deserved something better. We have noticed that evening's entertainment for the purpose of saying a good word for High, Low, Jack and the Game, by long odds the most witty and laugh-provoking musical extravaganza we have ever seen upon the stage. We hope the manager will persevere in correcting it with Madame Allan's operas, that a good house may have the opportunity of doing justice to its great excellence; and when that occasion does arrive, may the company consider themselves bound to acquit themselves a little more creditably than on Monday. Every one is loud in praise of Caradori's unrivalled execution of the Sonnambula music on Wednesday. Her concluding solo of "Ah! don't mingle," etc., was given with the most brilliant and overwhelming effect, comparing favorably with Mrs. WOOD's renowned execution of it. The whole house was in ecstasies, such as we have rarely witnessed. Last evening she appeared again in Cinderella, the ablest if not the greatest favorite, among our operas. So long as Caradori confines herself to these, her usual parts, little occasion is given us to comment, so oft and so oft repeated has been our estimation of her excellence. Next week we hope to hear her in BALFE's new opera of the Siege of Rochelle, to see which the whole town is on tiptoe, ill concealing their disappointment of Wednesday, for which evening it had been announced By the way we are indebted to the prolific dramatic press of TURNER & FISHER for a correct edition of "all the songs, duets, glees, trios, choruses," etc., of this opera, as well as of La Sonnambula. Play goers should buy the former at all events for use next week.

LECOMTE took a benefit on Tuesday evening. It was an ill-judged selection, to precede her own beautiful ballet with the long Sam Weller drama—a very good thing in its way, no doubt, but hardly a-propos to the benefit of a dancing Bayadere. Had Lecomte opened in the Bayadere in the same costume in which she appeared on Tuesday, her success in our opinion would have been far more decided, on so trivial accidents do depend matters of "great pith and moment" on the stage. The most wonderful and beautiful exertion of her powers which Madame Lecomte has yet given us, was, in our opinion, in the Pas Villagois, last Saturday evening, with Mr. CHEKENI. Such execution was surely never before seen on our stage—brilliant, rapid and graceful. It is pleasing to us to remark that Lecomte has been constantly growing in favor since her debut. Many whose eyes were at first blinded by recollection of the great loveliness and fascination of her fair compeers, now really admit Lecomte's vast superiority. She must have a re-engagement or the playgoers will all "go hang" themselves.

Mr. HACKETT showed his shining face to us, for the first time since his return from the South, on Tuesday evening, in several of his favorite characters, "the whole being for the benefit of Mr. CHIPPENDALE." He looks younger than ever since his recovery from his illness, and plays as well. We can hardly say more, though we would fain do so.

The National.—VANDENHOFF and "The New Candidate," Miss LOUISE MISSOURI, have been the great attraction at this house since our last. The beauty and talent of the latter has made so great an impression, that she is now a nine day's wonder, and the talk of the town; the houses on the nights of her performances are crowded and fashionable, and she is now emphatically "the great creature" of the day. She has selected Beatrice for her benefit next week, and we trust will appear in Juliet, Bianca, and other popular characters of the great masters. Such a range is imperiously demanded to preserve "the newly risen star" from "falling into the cinque pace" of melo drama. Her advisers are positively sacrificing her at the shrine of Moloch by continuing her night after night in the declamatory and whining part of Alice, instead of giving her an opportunity of exercising her genius and attainments in a part demanding a greater variety of reading, and better suited to her versatile powers. We should greatly deplore seeing her habituate her really fine voice to mere declamation, and thus like others we could name, acquire a monotonous tone and mannerism that would forever mar the excellence of her future personations. Rely on it, there is danger of her so doing, for we, like many others, already perceive an embryo tone, which if not immediately corrected, will eventuate in that most detestable of all lullabys—the Bowery style. Take heed and beware of it.

The pretty Miss EMMA WHEATLEY is about to appear as the heroine of the new drama of "Leila." We have not forgotten the precious scrape she got us into some months since when we announced the fact of her marriage. It was done in our prettiest manner weeks and weeks before such a thing was dreamed of by the families of the parties, and the thanks we got for thus immortalizing the happy couple was a request to contradict "the malicious (!!) paragraph" forthwith, on pain of having our hair pulled out. "In course," to oblige and gratify a lady, this was accordingly done, and we "lied like fury," just as we should have gone from June to Jericho, or down on our knees, or enacted Charles Surface, or in fact any other character but that of Joseph in the farce of Potiphar's Wife. It was great fun for "the lovyers" undoubtedly to read our contradiction of our own report, and we make no doubt the gay deceivers will hereafter quote the fact as an illustration of the elasticity of an editor's conscience. Nothing short of an invitation to dance at the christening will remove this "damning spot" from our editorial escutcheon.

A very intelligent little child, Miss HELEN MATTHEWS, of only ten years of age, made her debut, and a hit, in the Burletta of "Midas," last Tuesday; the piece is repeated nightly.

The Olympic and Franklin theatres are still carrying on the war—with what success deponent saith not. The rebuilding of the Bowery is yet to be commenced. The Insurance companies have not fulfilled their engagements, and the matter appears to be at sixes and sevens. Hundreds visit its grim walls daily, and occasionally, HAMBLIN or DINNEFORD is observed regarding it like Marius brooding over the ruins of Carthage.

SONNET TO "THE YOUNG CANDIDATE."

ON HER PERSONATION OF ALICE DARVIL, IN "ERNEST MALTRAVERS."

Sweet Lady, thanks! To thee the power is given,
(The holiest gift of a benignant Heaven,)
To win from woe her victim for a while,
And make the care-worn cheek of sorrow smile!
There is a spell, the mightiest of its kind,
The talismanic influence of mind!
From thee the mimic scene real life receives—
And fancy's dream a living picture breathes,
While thy soft accents' rich, melodious swell,
The echoes wake where hidden concords dwell,
Soft falling now—as distant waters glide—
Or Zephyr mourning for the lost Pleiad,—
Now bursting forth, in volumed voice around,
Clear as a "clarion with a silver sound!"
And thou art beautiful!—a gentle grace
Of womanhood is light'ning o'er thy face;
And in the fountain of thy clear, dark eye,
A world of love and loveliness doth lie.
Thy modelled limbs soft Grace has made her throne,
Each movement Modesty may claim her own—
By Genius, Beauty, Grace, thou'rt marked to be Just what thou art, and woman ought to be!
Oh young and richly gifted! thou art one
For whom shall flow the living stream of song.
The bright illusion of thy face and voice
Shall often bid the aching heart rejoice,
And many a flattering lay be henceforth thine,
Not more sincere—though worthier far—than mine.

ANECDOTES OF BOOTH.

CHARLES H. EATON, a promising young tragedian, and a very clever fellow, is about the only man in the profession who is under an impression that BOOTH's occasional insanity is not entirely feigned. There is too much "method" in it to excite anything but disgust with those who know him best. Eaton has written the following letter in relation to this matter, which we find in the Boston Morning Post:—

"Since we parted I have been 'strutting my brief hour' upon the boards of the Olympic, Bowery and Franklin, and at the Theatre here, and in a few days shall shape my course south-west.

I have just heard of Booth's attack upon poor Flynn, at Charleston, and shudder, as it recalls to memory the opportunity he had about three years ago to make me participant in a real tragedy. We were playing an engagement together at the same theatre, at Baltimore, and reversed Pierre and Jaffier, Othello and Iago. On the second night he played Othello (a part he seldom personates) to my Iago.—After rehearsal, he came to my lodgings and requested me to go through the parts with him again. 'Iago,' said he, 'you must do your d——dest to-night or I shall play you down.' There was a singularity in his manner which I had not observed before, and I confess that I felt considerable fear that he might fall into one of his melancholy paroxysms and do me some harm. We adjourned to an oyster-room, and every time an oyster was opened he cried out 'murder,' in various tones, with apparent horror. Night came. He played Othello splendidly, and drew down thunders of applause. In the last act, after the death of the 'gentle Desdemona,' it seemed as if all hell was raging in his heart; his eyes displayed the fierceness of a tiger's, and his thrust at me, I verily believe, would have been fatal had I not suddenly stepped aside to avoid it. The audience were as hushed as death; my heart beat audibly, and it was a minute or two before I could recover my self-possession.

A short time after this I passed a few days beneath his hospitable roof, and was entertained with great kindness by him and his amiable lady. One night I was awoke by a tremendous crash in the next room. I hurried on my dressing gown and ran into the entry to see what the matter was. It seems that Booth had wound a sheet around him, and with a light in his hand, had gone to his aged father's room; but the old gentleman, who happened to be awake and heard him coming, had dashed the bowl and ewer upon the floor at his feet as he entered, and effectually frightened him out of his mad freak. 'Ah, Junius, Junius,' said the venerable old man, 'will you never have done with these mad freaks?' Alas for Booth! alas for the prostration of genius!

"So flourishes and fades majestic man."

Yours ever, C. H. E.

Booth, the Tragedian.—In the account lately published of the attempt of Booth, the tragedian, when in a fit of insanity, to kill Mr. Flynn, an allusion was made to his having previously been saved from drowning. The Charleston Courier of the 13th inst. gives the subjoined particulars of the affair:

"Mr. Booth, the celebrated tragedian, in the steampacket Neptune, attempted to destroy himself while on the passage from New York to Charleston, under the following circumstances. Mr. B. went on board the above packet, in company with his friend, Mr. Flynn, the well known comedian, on Wednesday evening last, and on the passage showed evident symptoms of insanity, but being carefully watched by his anxious friend, had no opportunity of escaping his vigilant eye, and appeared to improve gradually under Mr. F.'s friendly care, until the afternoon of Friday last, the 9th inst., when 36 miles N. E. of Frying Pan Shoals, during dinner, when Mr. B. excused himself from the table, took advantage of his friend's absence, and lowered himself from the promenade deck, which attracted the attention of the men. Capt. Pennoyer, Mr. Flynn, and the rest of the passengers being called from dinner, endeavored to persuade him to return on board, when he not only refused, but immediately plunged into the ocean. Capt. P. instantly stopped the boat, which was then going at the rate of eleven miles an hour, and by his prompt exertion and presence of mind, a safety buoy was thrown over, and a safety boat immediately launched. The gallant captain took the helm, and Mr. Booth, though then half a mile from the boat, was rescued from a watery grave."

A Note Higher—Although the following witty story is not new to the theatrical, it may be so to the readers of the musical world. When Miss Paton was rehearsing the part of Polly in the Beggars's Opera, she said to Tom Dibbin, "I should like to sing this song, 'A miser thus a shilling sees,' a note higher."—"Then," said the punster, "you must say, 'A miser thus a guinea sees.'"

Woman's Wit.—"I have been troubled with weak eyes for more than ten years," said B., "and I am not able to tell the cause." "Can't you?" said Miss F., "I can." "What is it?" "Because they are set in a weak place."

The Baltimore Sun says that the Boston editors are drinking gin cocktails and crying for pure water.

Nationl Dish.—Prince P—— E—— was speaking of dishes peculier to different countries, and being told that roast beef was the national dish of Old England, he observed, "No, no; it is not. I have been three month in London, and never seen one dite of roast beef on any von table; but I never but see the national dish, vich is cock and pig!" [Chickens and ham.]

THE DESERTED BRIDE, and OTHER POEMS, by GEORGE P. MORRIS, Esq.

From the participation in mutual pleasures and intellectual association, there is engendered between an editor and his patrons, a certain community of feeling and a reciprocal good will that are seldom slow to exhibit themselves on occasions calculated to elicit the expression of their estimation and regard for each other.—We are not surprised, therefore, to learn that the POEMS of the EDITOR of the New York Mirror are the theme of general praise, and are greedily seized on by his thousand friends as the most grateful literary bonne bouche of the season. No one in this community can claim acquaintance with half the number of the patrons of literature that fortunately fall to the share of GEN. MORRIS; and we are sure that nothing could have been more gratifying to that wide circle of readers who for years have looked to the columns of the Mirror as a source of intellectual edification, than the superb little volume of poems which the able conductor of that sheet has recently offered to the public.

The contents consist of a selected portion from those numerous poetical productions which have rendered their author so well known, and of addresses which have so materially contributed to the success of beneficent objects, and to the gratification of enlightened audiences. The pieces all seem to be the immediate inspiration of the muse which some peculiar circumstance had awakened, and this gives to them an air of freshness and originality which they will forever retain.—The songs are exquisitely tender and beautiful, and seem to have developed musical talent in others, if we may judge by those delicious airs to which they have been sung with so much eclat. There are brilliant thoughts happily expressed pervading the other effusions in this unpretending collection, and we could easily select many that will be reckoned gems while our language lasts; but we must refrain from enriching our columns with their beauties lest we mar the interest which novelty lends to this rich casket. Superadded to the intrinsic worth of the poetry, whoever purchases this splendid book will possess a specimen of American typography that we have never seen surpassed. In a word, it is a jewel of a volume, and must commend itself to all lovers of "sweet poesy," and particularly to those who indulge a fastidious taste in the rich getting-up of their favorite works.

ENGLISH THEATRICALS.

Mr. Edward L. Bulwer has announced himself to be the author of the new drama called The Lady of Lyons.

Mr. Anderson, of Drury-lane Theatre, is confined to his bed from an injury sustained at a rehearsal of the new piece entitled 'The Meltonians,' in which he had to make a spring of no ordinary character in imitating the wild freaks of the Meltonian wags.

John Barnett, the musical composer, is at Frankfort-on-the-Maine. He is writing a new opera, to be called Farnielle.

Mr. Knowles, the dramatist, has been engaged by the Edinburgh Philosophical Association, to deliver a course of lectures on the drama, and we understand that the Waterloo-rooms have been visited by most of the literati of the Scottish metropolis during the few lectures which he has already delivered.

Sudden decease of Mrs. Bland, the Singer.—Mrs. Bland, once the queen of ballad singers, expired on Monday afternoon, at the house of Mr. Weston, in the Broadway, Westminster, where she had resided in complete retirement for the last two years. Her death was very sudden. Mrs. Bland was in her 73d year, and has left four sons: Mr. James Bland, an actor and vocalist at the Olympic Theatre; Mr Charles Bland, also a singer; another son, one of the naval knights of Windsor; and the fourth, a tradesman of London. She made her debut on the Dublin stage at the early age of six years.

Rodwell, the musical composer, who married the only daughter of Liston, the comedian, has come into a handsome fortune by the death of his mother, Mrs. Rodwell, the proprietor of a moiety of the Adelphi Theatre during the prosperous season of Tom and Jerry. Mrs. Rodwell and Mr. Jones subsequently sold the Adelphi Theatre to Messrs. Yates for £30,000.

Mr. Ducrow.—The splendid castle of Rossie, in Forfarshire, with the surrounding estate, yielding a rental of £4000 per annum, has been purchased by this eminent equestrian, from Mr. Horatio Ross, formerly M.P. for Aberdeen.

Haymarket.—This theatre closed a most prosperous season on Monday night with the benefit of Mr. Webster. After The Love Chase had been performed for the 84th time, Mr. Webster delivered an address, in which he announced that the house would re-open on the 15th March, with the aid of Mr. Power, Mr. Ranger, and the regular company.

St. James's.—A new opera, called The Musician of Venice, has been produced at this theatre, and, though its reception on the first night of its performance was somewhat equivocal, it is now rising in public favor. The plot is slight, but affecting, as it tends to show the influence of music even on assassins, who are prevented from sacrificing their victim by its powers. Pilati is the composer of the music, accompanied by himself on the organ, with great effect. Miss Rainforth sang a long scena with much effect, so that it was unanimously encored; and A. Giubilei had the same good fortune with an aria buffa. This gentleman has a powerful voice, but he should contrive to do something better in the histrionic way. Hall and he, as the bravoes, gave a remarkable picture of genuine acting in uxta position.

On Thursday evening a new farce called Our Mary Anne, from the pen of the ever-fertile Buckstone, called forth peals of laughter from the audience. The plot turns on the amorous imprudence of Jonathan Trunks (Buckstone), a steward, who falls in love with, and marries Mary Anne (Miss Poole), a young damsel betrothed in her childhood to Jonathan's master, Colonel Albert (Cooper). Jonathan, to gain the hand of his mistress, has kept from her the secret of her betrothment, and is very uneasy at the thought of the Colonel's return, who has been absent several years. Presently Ernestine (Mrs. Ternan), a widow lady, arrives; the Colonel has refused her hand, unseen, some time before, and she now resolves to await his return, and win him a la Miss Hardcastle, and disguises herself as a peasant girl. The Colonel does return, and takes Ernestine for "our Mary Anne," grown to womanhood, falls desperately in love with her, and is greatly horrified when the conscience-stricken Jonathan informs him that he has married Mary Anne already. At last his better feelings prevail, and he astonishes both Ernestine and honest Jonathan by joining their hands. Their mutual surprise explains the mistake, Jonathan is forgiven, and allowed to retain "our Mary Anne," and the Colonel is united to Ernestine. Though the plot of the farce is slight, it is well put together. Buckstone's peculiar humour is well known, but it never told better than on the present occasion; his body became so frightfully supple that his very limbs seemed disjointed with fear. Ernestine was acted with much taste and judgment by Mrs. Ternan, and Compton was very happy as a friend of Jonathan's, whose highest idea of human felicity was the lowering of his rent. The farce was eminently successful.

Novel Race.—The Cincinnati News relates a curious race, which came off in that city a few days since, between a "down-easter" and a "buck-eye," the former having ten yards start, (the race being 50 yards,) and to run backwards. The Yankee came out two feet ahead, took the bet (fifty dollars) and went about his business.

A Sight Worth Seeing.—Lady Georgiana Wolff and her husdand, the missionary, in a desert, riding in panniers hung on each side of a camel, with her ladyship carrying weight to preserve the balance and a camel bringing up the rear burdened with her ladyship's piano!

Test of Intoxication—A native of the "E's Isle" was the other day asked how he could tell that a man was drunk. "Faith," answered Pat, "I'd never be after saying, that a man was drunk at all, without I saw him try to light his pipe at a pump.

ANECDOTES OF THE LATE JOHN MYTTON, ESQ.

BY JUNGLICUS.

He was certainly a most capital shot with a rifle, but exceeded the bounds of prudence so far in his feats with fire-arms, as not only to put the lives of others in the greatest jeopardy, but by the merest chance he would himself also have been placed in a criminal point of view under the awful surveillence of the law. His confidence in his own adroitness in this particular caused him to take the most daring and dangerous liberties with the persons of others, by shooting close to, and even sometimes at, their hats when on their heads. The following is a case in point; Old Dean, who used to let out nets for fishing, at Burton, had occasion to request a favor from the subject of these anecdotes. He met Mytton on the road near Halston, and addressed him for that purpose, but before the old man could finish the tale, Mytton with one of Manton's best, let fly through his hat, which was completely shattered. This mad experiment, though it startled, did not much surprise Dean, and as he obtained the required boon, he went joyfully home, knowing he should receive an order for a new hat. The vane of the chapel at Halston, at the present moment, proves the predilection of Mytton for a shot at anything, for it is, to use an expressive term, "completely riddled" with his discharges.

Among the number which came under my observation the following incident occurred as he was returning home to dinner after a day's shooting. Two labouring men who were working in the fields near his estate, saluted him when passing them; he accosted one of them with, "Throw up your hat!" which the man refused. The other, who knew Mytton's ways, said, "Dang it, here be mine, slap at her!" and casting his hat in the air, got it well peppered. Mytton, by way of remuneration, threw the man a sovereign, which liberality so completely mortified his fellow laborer, that he drawled out, "Ah, by gum! had I a knowd un been such a good un, he should hadden moin an welcome, then addressing Mytton, who had just reloaded, he added "please yur honour, you may have moin now, if—" but before he could finish, Mytton had kicked the hat out of his hands and fired off both barrels at it, which rendered it a complete mass of tatters from the salute, and Mytton walked off very coolly, leaving chawbacon to make the best of his tardy acquiescence, staring like a fool.

From the known hospitality of the Halston Squire, mendicants of all descriptions paid a visit en passant. Two of the fraternity, one a collier, and the other a merchant's seaman, sought relief there, and unexpectedly were closely and ingeniously interrogated by Mytton himself, as to their former avocations, later pursuits, and present pretensions to charity. The collier, or pretended one as he proved, was found to be no object for relief, and Mytton returned in doors, where he immediately loaded a fowling-piece with blank cartridge, and going to the window, told the fellow he was a confounded cheat, observing he felt convinced he came for the purpose of robbery, and at the same time presenting the piece, threatened to shoot him. The man endeavored to deprecate the assumed anger of Mytton, who appeared the more enraged at the excuses made, and at last fired at the imposter. Seriously frightened, the fellow dropped down, fully persuaded he was wounded somewhere or other, and for a short time remained on the ground, until some of the servants at the instigation of the master, with a smart lash or two, convinced him he was in the wrong box. He quickly got up, and with a slight examination of his own dear self, immediately took the hint to make himself scarce, perceiving he had inadvertently drawn himself into the precincts of "Castle Dangerous." The sailor seemed to enjoy the other's discomfiture, and was relieved in money and kind, with a recommendation to a person in London, who soon got him a ship.

It is related of Mytton, that having once met with an accident which injured one of his legs, that did not appear to heal very well, his mother anxiously endeavored to persuade him to allow some medical practitioner to see it. He considering it a mere trifle, proceeded to London, and in a short time sent a box home. Upon its being opened, a recently amputated leg threw the whole of the house into confusion, and the shock was complete when a note which accompanied it, stated his sorrow at not having attended to his mother's advice, for his leg gradually becoming worse, it had been deemed necessary to cut it off to prevent mortification from extending to the vitals, but that he was now doing well. The next post, however, undeceived them, though not before a letter of condolence was written.

Chester Races was invariably attended by Mr. Mytton, and many freaks similar to the following are remembered by several of the inhabitants of the town. Being in a coffee room, a countryman who had heard he was there, peered through the window to get a sight of him, saying to the bystanders, "which be Mytton, which be he?" Though the subject of these remarks certainly never followed the precept* of the Grecians, who well knew what a severe tax popularity was; but to the contrary, was a lover of the arbitrium popularis auræ, or at all events had arrived at the digito monstrari et dicier hic est, the reiterated questions of the clodhopper, who had just flattened his nose against the glass, aroused Mytton's ire to such a degree, as caused him to start suddenly up, and running to the window he gave the cut direct, by dashing his fist through it into the fellow's face, which was instantly covered with blood. The people around were highly amused, and joined in the cry raised against him for his impertinent conduct, which caused him quickly to withdraw from the scene of his defeat, with a practical lesson on the folly of curiosity. After the running was over, Mytton, in the evening, accosted two girls in the street, whom he had seen before, and requested to try a pair of bracelets, that he had just purchased, on one of them, whose wrists, he said, were about the size of Mrs. M.'s. She being unsuspicious of any mischief, allowed him to look at her wrist, when he contrived to snap a small pair of highly-finished gilt handcuffs on her, and seizing the other's arm he united their wrists together, and left them in the rows (or verandahs peculiar to Chester) to be laughed at by all who saw them. This freak over, he hastened to dinner, after which his usual potations were indulged in. Not knowing how to pass his time, he rambled out, and turning into a small public house, from whence peals of laughter were issuing, he perceived an itinerant Italian, who, with a monkey, was diverting the country people assembled there after the races. Thinking only of amusing himself, he made a bargain with the poor fellow to come to his hotel, but as it was then very late, the garcon did not very readily agree to it. His scruples, however, were soon silenced by the liberal gifts of Mytton, who returned to his quarters, and found the house closed, with his own servant only sitting up for him. Taking the Italian and monkey up stairs, he gave the boy such a dose of wine as nearly intoxicated him. To prevent interruption he locked the door, and with a trumpet that the Italian had, he commenced the night's performance. Various persons in the house were soon aroused, and several times was he requested to be rather more quiet, but these hints only served to make matters worse. The hostess finding messages of no avail, at last arose and came to the door herself. Long might she have assailed it in vain had not the monkey, (who was exceedingly irritated by Mytton) in endeavoring to escape from his inveterate persecutor, by jumping about the room, knocked out the lights. It was at this critical moment that "mine hostess" knocked at the door, which Mytton opened. As all the servants had tried previously to make themselves heard, they were in the passage awaiting their mistress's orders, and she perceiving the room to be quite dark, was entering the door with the only light there, when Jacko, indignant at his ill usage, bolted right out into the passage. No sooner did she perceive the enraged animal rush, as she imagined, towards her, than uttering a piercing shriek, she dropped the candle and swooned; and the servant who rushed forward to save it, was floored by the monkey getting between his legs. Being now in complete darkness, he endeavored to extricate himself, by kicking, but Jacko soon got loose, and imprinted his teeth on his opponent's supporters, who instantly roared out "murder." The others not knowing what to apprehend, for the fallen man, though he felt, had not seen his enemy, quickly took to flight. Suddenly the foremost fugitive felt something spring upon, and firmly cling to her shoulders. This fairly settled her, for the manus levitur imposuit she found herself unable to get rid of, and throwing herself down upon the landing, in an agony of fear, gave vent to her screams. More terrified than ever at the girl's noise, the others in their haste to pass, fell over her, and the concert was at full pitch. "Lor a mercy," squalled one, "The Devil," roared another, and sure enough if he had appeared there in propria personæ, confusion could not have been worse confounded. The yells of the performers, combined with Mytton's view halloo, having brought out the would-be-sleepers from their dormitories, and a light being procured, a pretty scene of riot and disorder presented itself to the eyes of the astonished guests. The monkey having made his escape down stairs, no one could tell what had been the occasion of all these disturbances, and various versions were given of the appearance, as some said, of his Satanic majesty. Mytton, who little expected such a scene, enjoyed it heartily, and kept the pauvre Italien in the back ground. It being necessary to get more lights, Cookey was deputed to go down to the kitchen, in company with another servant, for candles. As she was entering the door, she observed some dark object jump on the dresser, which commenced chattering at her. Her fears having been already aroused, she felt convinced that some supernatural being had taken possession of her sanctorium, and not being willing to combat the powers of darkness, rushed up stairs, terror lending her wings, and screamed to the utmost pitch of her voice, her companion adding a running accompaniment. This second bravura in alto roused the retiring guests and servants once more, but nothing positive could be elicited from the girls, whose fears had magnified the dark object into an immense being with fiery eyes. While some of the gentlemen who had put up there were dressing, in high dudgeon, at such repeated annoyances, a council was held on the stairs by the affrighted servants, who, after assisting their mistress to her room, were discussing the nature of the apparition. They were, however, soon sent to the right about by a loud crash in the kitchen, which to their ideas fully confirmed what had been stated by the cook. The coast being now clear, Mytton hurried the Italian down stairs, who soon got Pug in his arms and made his exit, heartily glad of having escaped from such a bruissement. Mytton had scarcely got back to his room before some of the gentlemen descended, and discovered the kitchen strewed with fragments of plates and dishes. How they were broken none could tell, for Mytton had retired, and his servant, who had been dismissed when he first came in, knew nothing of it until morning, when he heard the most outrageous reports relative to the nocturnal alarm. The breakage was easily accounted for, as the plates, piled in one another, had been left on the dresser, and Jacko, during his evolutions, jumped against and upset them. These were not the only damages Mytton had to pay, for before Jacko got out of the room in which he commenced the entertainment, he had smashed nearly everything that was brittle. The hurt of the servant also called for some remuneration, as well as for the alarm given to the others, which was settled before Mytton started for home.

* Conceal your life.

Mytton's butler, who had a good berth of it, came in at times for some queer knocks. He had once boasted that no one should rob him, and having been receiving some money from L. J——, of Oswestry, was returning home by the Ellesmere road. On approaching the green gates, he was suddenly stopped with "Stand and deliver, or I'll let daylight through you." The suddenness of the demand, with the determined bearing of the robber, caused his courage to ooze out at his fingers' ends. "Have mercy on me," exclaimed he, and with much meekness suffered the loss of his watch and money. When he got home, Mytton was taking some refreshment, and seeing him in an agitated state, enquired what was the matter? Being obliged to confess the loss, it being Mytton's money, he told him he had resisted until overpowered; when Mytton producing the watch and cash, asked him if he was not a pretty fellow to let a single person rob him. Like Jack Falstaff, he then pretended to be the "valiant lion that knew the lawful prince."

He often made races among his servants, and sometimes joined in them himself. Being engaged in a contest of the kind, with the above butler, who was not then aware of his practices, the Squire being blown, suddenly stopped, stooped down, and complained of a pain in his bowels. The butler, who had the lead, came back to see what was the matter, and got upset for his trouble. Mytton instantly started afresh, reached the goal, beat him hollow, by the ruse, and laughed at his credulity.

Of Mr. Mytton, as a rider, I need not say much, for he was as well known as the statue at Charing Cross. It may however be remarked that his horses seldom stopped with him, though the ground was ever so unfavourable, or the fences ever so large. He was once out with his hounds, mounted on a favorite entire brown horse, and took a double sunk fence, or what is commonly called an oxfence, with ditches on either side, which measured upwards of ten yards, from hind foot to hind foot. Those who witnessed it thought him flying. Both rider and horse got over safe, and continued on through an excellent run, taking as usual, everything before him, over a very difficult country. On his return from hunting he frequently crossed the canal, near his mansion, when mounted on his Oswestry Lass or the famous Hit or Miss mare, but his horse Baronet, and others of his stud, when he attempted it, plunged and soused him too much. The above-mentioned horse was Magnet, purchased by him of Sir Bellingham Graham. Its powers being once the subject of discourse, after some cotroversy, Mytton said—

"Fancy his weight and strength, what's to stop him? why he'll go through h—ll!"

A gentleman present remarked, "I should be sorry for either you or I to be on him there."

"Why?"

"For fear of the devil laying an embargo on us."

"He be d—d," says Mytton, "keep to the horse, you'll be safe enough, he'll kick the d—l's brains out."

Among some of his whimsicalities, it has been noticed that when any important race was to come off, he would generally give his jockey (Whitehouse) a kick on the breech, "for good luck," just as he was going to mount. Nimrod remarks in his Life of Mytton, the enormous expense the latter went to in stocking his preserves. In addition to the regular dealers mentioned therein, the keepers of many estates around were strictly enjoined to save all vermin they should catch, thus men poured in weekly with bags of fitchets, stoats, polecats, &c., without number. The money thus expended must have amounted to a very heavy sum during the year. He also purchased a tiger in London, for the purpose of having a Tiger hunt in England, but not being able to get it conveyed to Halston without great inconvenience, he was obliged to dispose of it at a great discount, or there is no doubt he would have been mad enough to have started the beast, let what would have been the consequence.

The (London) Sportsman for Feb, 1838.

SKETCH FROM REAL LIFE.

"Sunt quos curriculo."—Hoace.

"Lady Teazle, by all that's damnable!"—School for Scandal.

The scene whence we take our "Sketch" is the inside of the Loadover night-coach going down the road—in fact, doing the last stage into Loadover..... the time, six in the morning, just as the said coach stopped to change. Dramatis personæ: a fat man, a thin man, and an anxious-looking man in a black silk night-cap.

The fat man was a substantial farmer in the neighborhood—a man of substance in more ways than one: a jolly fellow withal, who gladly remembered the pranks of his youth, and who, now that time and "too, too solid flesh" had debarred him from "larking" himself, gladly listened to and recorded the deeds of younger, but not better men.

The thin specimen was one of those painful objects called "Methodist Preachers," much given to gathering female lambkins into the fold, and with a decided predilection for "cold without."

Last, but not least, the man in the night-cap was—who do you think?—Mr. Snooks?—No.—Mr. Brown—Brown*e* with an e I mean?—No.—Guess again.—Give it up? Well, then, nobody more nor less than Chinklove Whidimore, Esq., the banker of Loadover. "Not to know him argues yourself unknown." We'll suppose you know him: if you do, you know a thick, square-built man, rather below the middle height, with a few lanky hairs endeavoring to cover a low plebeian forehead, from under which peered forth two cunning banker's eyes; the rest of him was brown knees and gaiters. His look was anxious, and his manner fidgetty.

The elder Whidimore gloried in a son—but such a son! the pattern of sons!—"Ipse," as we say in Latin; not Fitzroy Whidimore only, but Ipse Fitz-Whid!!! —"a young man who, though he had a loose thousand or so, and a decided distaste for banking, was yet the model of sons—the only youth who never got into scrapes, who had no ruling vice, no passion," &c. &c—all which Whiddy the elder devoutly believed, and said, and would have sworn if necessary.

This was exactly the state of affairs when the coach stopped to change, naturally waking up the three insides. One—two—three—five minutes passed, and no progression. Mr. W. looked still more anxious, and even muttered something which the long man sharply reprehended.

"God bless me, sir!" at length cried out the banker, "how long are we to be changing horses? I must be at Loadover before eight, and as if ill luck would have it, I think we are longer changing to-day than I ever remember."

Here a gold repeater was produced, which corroborated the banker's assertion.

"I'm in a hurry," continued old Whidimore; "I've business of importance!"

"May be," yawned the farmer; "I'se in no hurry; mearket don't begin afore ten."

Another five minutes, but still the coach did not proceed. There was certainly a crab-like movement—then a violent shock—a stillness—then another shock—and a repeated "whish—sh—sh—whish!"

Mr. Whidimore, both alarmed and impatient (for he was returning with a heavy sum in gold to meet a run on the bank), popped his head out of the window with a "Holloa, coachman! what are ye about? are we to stay here all night? I must beg you will make haste."

But the coachman was far too intent on double-thonging a near leader to pay the slightest attention to the banker's remonstrance. If a captain is a king on board his vessel, pray what is a stage-coachman on his box? A potentate! yea, verily, and more than a potentate; for he trusteth only to his good right arm.

But this is digression. The coachman continued working away like a steam-engine, and the black silk night-cap continued bawling out of the window.

"Whisth—wist—st!" whistled the coachman, with an accompanying double-thonger; "wst—wst! I say, Jim, take that 'ere Vidmore 'oss up another 'ole or two! Whst—whst! get along, you d——d brute, do."

"What did he say, sir?" asked the astonished banker, as he withdrew his head; "a what horse, sir? Did I hear right, sir?—did you hear what he said, sir?"

Here the rapidity of the questions were interrupted by another bang—bang! followed by a furious start of the whole team, which threw the banker into the farmer's lap, and sent the Methodist nearly into the fore boot.

"Hear right! to be sure you did," replied the fat man, as soon as he had recovered his wind; "that 'ere young scamp Whidimore 'osses the coach this stage, and all the devils as he can get together for a ten-pound note as no one else can drive, he claps into this here coach—if he don't, blow me! A prime chap!—haw, haw, haw!—just loike I in my young days! Don't believe old Hunks nose nothing on it. Lord love ye! such a game one is young Whiddy! haw!—haw!—Quite a pictur to see him come down Drag's Hill—wish he had the ribands now—shouldn't wait here so long! Haw, haw!—prime chap!"

"A son of the banker's!" coolly observed Mr. Whidimore.

"To be sure! Lord love ye! what a flat you must be not to know young Whiddy!!—We're off at last! well, that's all right."

* * * * * *

The banker was too late by half an hour. The bank had not broken exactly, but was "very particularly blown" with its run. Young Hopeful, in propria persona, handed the Governor out!!! He could not resist having a peep at the team.

* * * * * *

"If, sir," coolly said Whidimore the elder to the "pattern of sons," after he had delivered the gold, "you will take shares in a public speculation—ugh! ugh!—bless me, how troublesome this cough is!"

"He's found out about the Spanish, by all that's unlucky!" thought "handsome Fitzroy."

"For the sake of the public, of which I am a portion—ugh!—ugh!—you should endeavor to honorably fulfil your engagement by having useful, not—ugh! ugh! ugh!——"

"I don't know what you allude to!" faltered "the Fitzroy."

"I'll shew you, sir," roared the banker; then, to the inexpressible horror of the thunderstruck contractor, old Hunks, who never so much as whistled, much less mimicked, jumped across a high stool, set his feet on the rail, reized a ruler in his right hand, and, with appropriate gestures, gave to the very life, in the very voice of the coachman, "Whst—whst! I say, Jim, take up that 'ere Vidmore 'oss another 'ole or two!!"

* * * * * *

If any of my readers are so obtuse as not to divine the sequel, perhaps one fact may help them—Young Whidimore receives £25 quarterly, with liberty "to horse" himself.

London (Old) Sporting Magazine for Feb., 1838.

"Theodore S. Fay, Esq., has just completed a new novel entitled, I believe, the Adventures of Mr. Robert Rueful. It is full of sparkling wit, racy humor, good hits, and is in the writer's happiest vein. I have read the MS. and do not hesitate to pronounce it the very best thing that Fay ever wrote. Read it and laugh. All the dyspeptics in the world should read it. It will do them more good than all the patent pills and other quack medicines in Christendom. Dr. Francis will enjoy it mightily. It will be comprised in some ten or twelve chapters and published, I understand, in weekly parts, in the Mirror, to which periodical 'the Secretary' is, you know, a constant contributor."

Extract of a Letter to the N. Y Daily Whig.

Sleigh Party.—A correspondent describes the excursion of a party of pleasure from Bolton, through Lancaster and Leominster to Fitchburgh, on some day last week, consisting of one hundred and twenty five gentlemen and ladies, in a single vehicle, constructed for the purpose, drawn by twenty-four beautiful horses. It seems the vehicle was built in the form of a pavilion, and was surmounted with flags and other decorations. The party dined at Fitchburgh, and after a day of agreeable festivity returned without accident to their own homes.

Boston Daily Advertiser.

Excitement.—A man drinks three glesses, and he is in a state of excitement. A person receives a box on the ear, and he is excited. You stick your elbow in a fellow boarder's soup at table and he is excited. You call a man a thief or a liar and he is excited. You kick him with a sharp toed boot, and he is excited. You pull his nose and spit in his face, and he is excited. In short, you can do nothing in the world without creating excitement—save one thing: hire a man to saw wood by the day, and such an example of coolness and Christian patience as he will exhibit is enough to kill old folks.

Good Acting.—An English paper says that whilst Shakspeare was performing the part of a king in one of his own tragedies, standing near the Queen's box, and having given orders to the attending officers, Elizabeth wishing to know whether he would depart from the dignity of the sovereign, at that instant dropped her handkerchief, when the monarch immediately exclaimed, but without further interruption,

Yet ere this be done,
Take up our sister's handkerchief.

The will of Governor Blatchett, of Plymouth, Mass., proved in 1783, contains the following singular, and somewhat amusing clause:—

"I desire my body to be kept so long as it may not be offensive, and that one of my toes or fingers may be cut off, to secure a certainty of my being dead. I further request my dear wife, that as she has been troubled with one old fool, she will not think of marrying a second."

A wealthy tradesman having ordered a fish-pond at his country-house to be cleaned out, the foreman discovered, at the bottom, a spring of ferruginous-colored water, and on returning to the house, told his employer that he had found a challeybeate. "I am glad of it," exclaimed the worthy citizen, "for I never saw one. Put it in the basket with the other fish, and I'll come and look at it presently.

James B. Kendall, of Maryland.	Thos. Emory, of Maryland.
John L. Baltzer, of Washington city

The following stakes is also proposed by particular desire of a number of friends to the turf, as likely to be a very interesting stake.

A sweepstakes for 4 year olds, to run spring meeting, 1838, Two mile heats, sub. $300, ft. $100; 3 or more to make a race, to name and close 1st April.

Gentlemen desirous of subscribing to the above stakes will please address the Proprietor at Baltimore.

As the result of the last fall races has clearly demonstrated that the Maryland stock of horses is equal to any other—none of the purses will be confined to Maryland bred horses, but free for all, unless positively objected to by the Club.

TO ALL WHO KEEP HORSES.

JUST received, a large supply of WADE'S WORM and CONDITION POWDERS, fo horses, a medicine well known in England and France, where it has stood the test of experience, and certificates granted by the first veterinary surgeons, recommending all who keep horses particularly to use the powders at this season of the year, in order to promote the animals condition. These powders destroy the worms, loosens the hide, fines the coat, so as to do away the necessity of bleeding, renders the food more nutritive, prevents the animal taking cold after exposure to heat, and are at all times a great restorotive after a hard day's work. They require no restraint in either labor or feeding, and require little trouble in giving, as it is simply throwing the fourth part of the powder into the horse's feed a night.

THE IMPORTED HORSE PHILIP.

AFTER a passage of nearly one hundred days from Liverpool, has been landed safely at Nashville.

Philip is a rich brown, of great strength and high finish, full 16 hands high. He continued on the Turf till 9 years old, and won 23 races, mostly long distances and heats, and ran 9 times second. His eye is clear and expressive—his ear of medium length and well pointed, and his head small, bony, and blood-like; his neck gracefully arched; withers and hips right; good barrel of sufficient length, and his legs clean, neat, and free from splint, puff, or wind, and his muscles throughout well defined. He will make his first season at Franklin, Tenn., at $100, and $1 to the groom.

Tennessee heretofore had a good variety of native and imported horses, but we wanted a descendant of Haphazard and Filho da Puta—we have it in our power to tender to the public that descendant, Philip, got by Filho da Puta, out of Treasure by Camillus (also the dam of Palatine, Arachne, winner 28 times, Fanny Davies, Leda, Vanish, a winner about 30 times, John, and Christiana); her dam by Hyacinthus, out of Flora (the dam of Trim, Zara, Jock, St. Dennis, and Echo,) by King Fergus—Atalanta by Matchem (the dam of Faith, Pacolet, Harold, Fox, Rosalind, Yarico, and Bradamante)—Lass of the Mill by Oroonoka, her dam by Old Traveller, (sister to Clarke's Lass of the Mill)—Miss Makeless by Young Greyhound—Old Partner—Woodcock (dam of Lampton and Miss Doe)—Croft's Bay Barb (grandam of the Ancaster Starling)—Makeless (Desdemona's dam)—Brimmer—Dicky Pierson (son of Dodsworth)—Burton Barb mare.

Filho, by Haphazard, out of Mrs. Barnet by Waxy.
Haphazard, by Sir Peter Teazle, out of Miss Hervey by Eclipse.
Camillus, by Hamiltonian, out of Faith by Pacolet.
Hyacinthus, by Coriander, out of Rosalind by Phenomenon.

Surely it is needless to say a word of Old Matchem, or to hint to a judicious breeder, that from the invincible Eclipse, the two best lines of descent are through King Fergus, Hamiltonian, Blacklock, and Camillus, &c., and Pot-8-o's, Waxy, and Coriander, &c., and if we would ascend to the renowned King Herod, where would we rather go, than through Filho da Puta, Haphazard, Sir Peter Teazle, and Highflyer.

Nashville, Tenn., March 7, 1838. [m31] THOS. A. PANKEY & CO

ECLIPSE.

IT is with pleasure I can inform my friends that AMERICAN ECLIPSE is in fine health and condition, and will stand the ensuing season at my stable, in Woodford County, Kentucky, at one hundred dollars. The season will commence on the 10th day of the present month, and end on the first day of July next. I have safe and extensive pastures, and separate lots for mares from a distance to foal in, gratis, and to be fed with grain on reasonable terms. Great care will be taken to prevent accidents, but no responsibility will be undertaken should any happen.

Those who may wish to breed to Eclipse will do well to make early engagements, as he is limited to sixty mares; and, in all probability, this will be his last season in this State.

Servants sent with mares boarded gratis. E. M. BLACKBURN.

Kentucky, Feb. 1 1838. [F17—tf.]

SHARK.

THIS celebrated race horse and stallion, by American Eclipse, his dam the unrivalled and noted race mare Old Lady Lightfoot, by Sir Archy, whose colts (and not a large number) have sold for nearly $50 000, will make his season this Spring at Charlotte Court-House, Virginia, at $60 and $100 under the management of Col. THOMAS P. RICHARDSON and Maj. R. I. GAINES. If Shark is not encouraged as a stock horse, it is time to desert the genuine breed of the Old Dominion. He sold not long since for $15.000 cash. He is now at his stand, in fine health, ready for business—has proven himself a sure and good foal getter, five feet three inches high, remarkably handsome. His color is coal-black, Particulars hereafter. [mar. 3-tf.]

FRANCIS MARION,

WINNER of the great Sweepstake and Post-stake, Three and Four mile heats, at Tallahassee, will stand at Marianna, the present season, which has already commenced, at $50, payable on the 1st December next. All thorough bred mares, at this time owned in the Territory, will be served gratis. Francis Marion was sired by Marion; his dam was Malvina, by Old Sir Archy. For further particulars of performance and pedigree, see hand-bills, Spirit of the Times, and American Turf Register. [m40-3m] J. J. PITTMAN.

HICKORY JOHN.

THIS celebrated Racer and Thorough-bred Horse has left this place for his stand at La Grange, Troup Co., Ga., where he will remain for the Spring season only, under our charge, as he will make his appearance on the Turf again this fall, when he will have had time to recover from an injury sustained in one of his feet, when on his way hence to Columbia. His terms will be $60 the season, payable within the season; $100 insurance, payable as usual, and $1 to the groom. As a racer, it is not known that he has any superior—in point of breeding he has but few equals—he traces through the most fashionable and approved crosses to the old Cub mare, the ancestress of Bascombe, and a host of others highly distinguished on the Turf and in the Stud. His color is a rich chesnut, and his form unites beauty and strength to a d gree. His pedigree and performances will be published at length in hand bills.

Mares that may be sent to him will be taken care of at the usual rates and terms.

La Grange, Troup Co., Ga. [F24-tf.] HERRING & JETER.

PENNOYER

WILL STAND this season at Augusta, Ga., at $50. He is out of the celebrated race mare Ariel, and got by Henry; for further particulars as to sire and dam see Turf Register. He is 4 years old this Spring, a dark bay, 15½ hands high, well proportioned, and very handsome. The reason of his not figuring on the turf is, that he received, when a two year old, a severe kick on his right fore leg, which caused a large knee; his owner has taken every pains to remove it, but has not succeeded, so has to stand him.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 4, 1838. [J20-tf. JOHN MORRISON.

STALLION FOR SALE OR HIRE.

TALMA, own brother to Alice Grey, by Henry, out of Sportsmistress by Hickory, will be sold low, or farmed out during the ensuing season. He is a grey, about 16 hands high, and perfectly sound. Apply (if by letter post paid) to the Editor of this paper. [m17.]

JOHN BASCOMBE.

THIS celebrated racer will stand the ensuing season at the Hampton Course, near Augusta, under the direction of F. W. Lacy, and be let to mares at $100 the season, and $1 to the groom The season to commence the 1st of February, and end the 15th of July. It is requested that persons sending mares will send their note for the season, and the pedigree of the mare. The proprietors are well furnished with lots and stables, for mares that may be sent to remain with the horse, and will be fed and well attended to for 50 cents per day. Black servants sent with mares fed gratis. Every care and attention will be taken to guard against accidents or escapes, but no liability will be incurred for either. The charge for keeping mares to be paid for before taken away.

DESCRIPTION.

John Bascombe is a light chesnut sorrel, 5 feet 2½ inches high, fine bone and muscle, with superior limbs and action—for sprightliness and intelligence of countenance surpassed by no horse on earth. In fact, take him upon the whole, he is the horse of horses. The Almighty, in the plenitude of his wisdom and goodness, bestowed peculiar gifts on such men as Washington, Cæsar, and Bonaparte, as men—he has done the same to Bascombe as a horse. He will be 7 years old the ensuing spring.

PEDIGREE.

John Bascombe was got by Old Bertrand, out of Grey Goose by Pacolet, he by Imp. Citizen, grandam by Imp. Buzzard, g. grandam by Wade Hampton's Paragon, g. g. grandam by Imp. Figure, g. g. g. grandam the old Slamerkin mare, by the celebrated imported horse Wildair, out of the Imp. Cub Mare.

This match was for $32,000, $17,000 on Argyle, and $15,000 on Col. Crowell's stable, consisting of Bill Austin, Lady Nashville, John Bascombe, and Bolivia. Bascombe was selected

At the Union Course, L. I., May 31, (after travelling nine hundred miles,) in a match, Four mile heats, $5000 a-side, he beat the Champion of the North, the famed Post Boy, in 2 heats. Time, 7:49—7:51½. Track not in the best order, and the day windy.

At Augusta, Ga., Dec. 5, Four mile heats, he beat the gr. c. Kite, and Lady Morgan, in two heats. Time, 8:1—8:1.

John Bascombe never lost a heat after getting into the hands of Col. John Crowell, his present owner.

For the details of his performances, see American Turf Register, vol. vi. page 310, vol. vii. pages 236, 283, 328, 423, 489, 490, 544, 552, and 562. [d23] F. W. LACY.

SKYLARK,

WINNER OF FORTY TWO RACES, 24 of them King's Plates!—This unequalled four mile performer will stand the ensuing season at the stables of the subscriber, 2 miles from Nashville, at $100, payable on the 1st day of Jan. next, which may be discharged by the payment of $85 within the season, and $1 to the groom; insurance $125. The season will commence on the 1st Feb. and end on the 1st July next.

The Memoir of Skylark is published in the 8th volume of the Am. Turf Register, page 145, therefore only a few of the prominent facts will be given

He is a dark bay, with a strong rich coat; black legs, main and tail, without white; 16 hands 3 inches high; a full carcass, with broad and expanded ribs; limbs clean, hard and uninjured; a large hazel eye, clean head and muzzle; throttle, nostrils, and mouth, all indicating an easy breather;—the mouth is unusual for its depth. Indeed he is excellent in all the cardinal racing points. When we examine the size of his back bone, the extent and declivity of his Archie-like shoulder-blades, approximating the strongest framed hip-bones, our wonder at his ability to carry such high weights is diminished He has descended from an ancestry, in every line and branch, celebrated for speed and game; his multiplied and brilliant performances are confirmations of the purity of descent, and the truth of the adage that "blood will tell," or that blood will find its level according to its purity.

Skylark, bred by Mr. Daxon, and foaled in 1826, was got by Waxy Pope, sometimes called Sligo Pope, winner of the Derby; his dam Skylark, (dam also of Giles, a capital four mile horse,) was got by Musician, out of a sister to Porouette by Young Eagle—Parisot by Sir Peter,—her dam Deceit, sister to the yellow mare by Tandem Perdita, by Herod—Fair Forester by Sloe—Forester—Partner—Croft's Bay Barb—Makeless—Brimmer—Son of Dodsworth—Barton Barb Mare.

Waxy Fope, so called from being the son of Waxy, was out of the famous old Prunella, that was also the dam of Penelope, (the dam of Whalebone, Whisker, &c.), Parasol, Pelisse, Podargus, Pioneer, Pledge, Pope Joan, Piquet, and Prudence—all distinguished.

Musician was got by Worthy, out of Woodbine, (dam also of Music and Minuett, both winners of the Oaks,) by Woodpecker—Puzzle by Matchem—Princess by Herod—Julia by Blank—Spectator's dam by Partner, &c.

Young Eagle, own brother to Eagle and Spread Eagle, was got by Volunteer, dam by Highflyer, &c.

Worthy was got by Pot-8 o's, out of Maria by Herod, grandam Lisette, by Snap, out of Miss Windsor by the Godolphin Arabian.

If Amateurs and Breeders are to be controlled by performances, then Skylark occupies an enviable eminence; his performances have never been equalled on any turf—he won more King's Plates, and 3 and 4 mile races, than any horse that ever run: in a majority of the races with heavier weights than his competitors, and the betting was often 6, 10, and sometimes 15 to 1 Skylark against the field!

He beat many horses of the highest renown at all distances; among them Lady Elizabeth had twice to yield to his superior prowess, and she ran 4 miles at 5 years old, with 137lbs., in 7:45.

It has been said of him, that "those who have never seen him run, can form but a faint idea of his capabilities, and as a proof of the high estimation in which he stood with Turfmen, he was handicapped to carry 15st. (210lbs.) for the Corinthian Stakes."

So pre-eminently successful was he, at long distances and heavy weights, (often giving great odds,) that he was frequently permitted to walk over, and "the alterations in the King's Plates have been attributed to his unparalleled performances." At the age of nine years, his challenge to run with any horse, 4 miles, carrying 140lbs., not being accepted, he was withdrawn from the turf, as free from blemish or injury as when he first started.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 10, 1838. [J27] L. P. CHEATHAM.

New York, Feb. 1, 1838. JOHN R. SNEDIKER.

Pedigree and Performances of Trustee.

Trustee, a ch h. foaled in 1829, and bred by W. Ridsdale, was got by Catton, out of Emma by Whisker, brother to Whalebone, Woful, Wire, &c., and the sire of Memnon, The Colonel, Emma, Gibside, Fairy, by Hermes, out of Vicissitude by Pipator—Beatrice by Sir Peter, &c &c. See Stud Book.

Catton, sire of Trustee, was got by Golumpus, own brother to Hedley and Wanderer, his dam Lucy Gray, by Timothy, (by Delpini, out of Cora by Matchem,) grandam Lucy, by Florizel, out of Phrenzy by Eclipse.

Catton won 7 times at Doncaster, 11 at York, 3 at Newmarket, and one at Preston. During his career he won 14 successive races and walked over one. As will be seen by the Calendar, he was one of the best four milers of his day, and is the sire of many well-known winners, among whom are Tarrare, winner of the St. Leger, Anna, sister to Tarrare, David, Contest, Minster, Diana, Lady Charlotte, Mundig, &c. &c. See Weatherby's Racing Calendar.

At the Epsom meeting, 1835, Mundig, own brother to Trustee, won the Derby Stakes for 3 year olds, carrying 8st. 7lb., mile and a half, 128 subscribers; 14 started; beating Ascot, Pelops, Ibrahim, Selinus, Coriolanus, by Emilius, &c. &c. 7 to 4 agst. Ibrahim, 3 to 1 agst. Ascot, 6 to 1 agst. Mundig. Ascot came in second, Ibrahim not placed.

At Epsom meeting, in the Spring of 1832, Trustee ran third to St Giles (St. Giles, Margrave, and Trustee at this time all belonged to the same owners, Gully and Ridsdale) for the Derby Stakes, 101 subscribers, beating Margrave, (winner of the St. Leger Stakes both at Doncaster and Newmarket.) Beiram, (winner of the July and Prendergast Stakes,) Kate, Emiliana, Non Compos, Rounceval, Mixbury, and 13 others, 23 having started. After this race, Trustee was purchased by the Duke of Cleaveland for 2000 guineas.

At Doncaster, the same year, he was beaten by Margrave and Birdcatcher, none others placed; 73 subs.

At the Newmarket Houghton meeting, same year, Trustee, at 8st. 4lb., ridden by Chiffney, beat Mr. Greville's Dryad, 7st. 10lb., D.M., in a match, 300 sovs. a-side, h. ft. Two to one on Trustee.

At the Newmarket Craven meeting, 1833, Trustee ran second to Rounceval, (whom he had previously beaten) for the Oatland Stakes, D.I., 15 subs.; beating Consol, Beiram, Bizarre, Lady Fly, Argent, and Hokee Pokee.

At the same meeting he won the Claret Stakes of 200 sovs. each, h. ft., carrying 8st. 7lb., D.I.; 8 subs.; beating Minster, Beiram, and Margrave, a second time; even betting on Trustee.

At Newmarket, First Spring meeting, he beat Lord Conyngham's Minster, 8st. 7lb. each, in a match across the flat, 200 sovs., h. ft.; 7 to 4 on Trustee.

At York August meeting, same year, he was beaten by Voluna, for the Great Subscription, 2 miles, 11 subs.; 5 to 2 on Trustee.

At the same meeting, Trustee was beaten by Voluna and Titus, carrying 8st. 3lb. Two miles.

At the Doncaster September meeting, he won the Claret Stakes, carrying 8st. 5lb., 2 miles 3 subs., beating Pickpocket, by St. Patrick, &c.

At the Newmarket Craven meeting; 1834, Trustee ran second to Sir Mark Wood's Oaks filly Vespa, D.I., carrying 8st. 10lb., and beating Lottery, out of Pledge, Lord Exeter's Galata, (winner of the Oaks), Chantilly, Ann, by Catton, and Col. Peel's Malibran; 9 to 2 agst. Trustee, and 8 to 1 agst. Vespa. In this race Trustee was lamed, but at the Newmarket First Spring meeting, 1835, having stood his training, he was run against and beaten by Col. Peel's Nonsense, and Lord Exeter's Datura, when Lord Cleaveland ordered him to be sold.

Catton, Trustee's sire, had seven winners in the year 1836, on the English turf, who won twelve prizes. He had 32 of his get entered for the big things in 1837. In 1835 Catton had six winners—Mundig, Aratus, Contest, Chancellor, Zora, &c., who won 10 prizes, including the Derby Stakes at Epsom, of 3,300*l*. and 600*l*. at Doncaster.

Whisker, the sire of Trustee's dam, Emma, has several very fine runners on the English turf. In 1835 Whisker's get won eleven prizes, including the gold cups at Liverpool and Northallerton. [F3-tf.]

EMANCIPATION.

THIS celebrated English Racer and splendid Stallion will occupy Rowton's Stand, at Col. W. Hampton's Woodlands Estate, five miles below Columbia, under the direction of Mr. Wm. J. Geiger, and be let to mares at $75 the season, $120 to insure, and $1 to the groom; the money to be paid in advance. The season will commence on the 1st of Feb. and end the 1st. of July. Extensive rye and grass pastures provided for mares, and separate lots for such as may have young foals, and mares well fed at 50 cents per day. Every care will be taken to guard against accidents, but no responsibility should they occur.

Emancipation, so named under the great excitement about the emancipation of the Roman Catholics, was bred by Mr. Riddle, and was foaled in 1827. He was got by Whisker (own brother to Whalebone, &c.) sire of The Colonel and Memnon, winners of the St. Leger. His dam was got by Ardrossan; one of the best sons of the famous John Bull; his grandam Lady Eliza, by Whitworth; his g. g. dam XYZ's dam, by Spadile, out of Sylvia by Young Marske, &c. By reference to the 7th vol. page 101 of the Turf Register and Sporting Magazine, his extended pedigree may be seen, as also his performances on the turf, which latter are but little inferior to any horse ever imported into this country. He is a beautiful bay, with black legs, mane and tail, 16 hands high, of great length, and commanding figure. His bone is large, with muscles well defined; his action good, and accompanied by indications of uncommon power. His stock are considered very promising; his oldest were two years old last Spring; of these, some few were trained last season, and two of them have been winners—Angela, who won the Chillington Stakes, August 5th, beating a field of five others, at Wolverhampton; and Compensation, winner of a stake at Hednesford, October 31st, beating three others.

For black servants sent with mares no charge will be made: having no accommodations for white persons on the spot, they must board elsewhere. [F24-tf.]

SPIRIT OF THE TIMES.

NEW-YORK: SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1838.

ON DITS IN SPORTING CIRCLES.

Sarah Bladen "sold to the enemy!"—We are not a little surprised to learn that Mr. JOHN R. HEAD, of Manchester, Miss., has sold Sarah Bladen, (matched against Picton, at Nashville, in May,) to Messrs. THURSTON & PRYOR, of Natchez, for $5500. She will now go into Col. BINGAMAN's stable, probably, as Pryor is his trainer, and Thurston his Man Friday on the course, starting his horses, etc. Mr. Head gave $8000 for her. He has also sold to the same parties his racking horse Invincible, from Long Island, until recently owned by Mr. THOS. M. DOYLE, of New Orleans. Mr. D. disposed of Invincible for $1200 last January.

Angora and Rodolph.—The match between these two "cracks," for 500 Bales of Cotton a-side, two mile heats, is off. It was to have been run over the Pharsalia course, at Natchez, on the 17th of May next. Col. BINGAMAN's Angora receives forfeit (worth about $10,000) from Col. Claiborne's Rodolph, the latter gentleman having disposed of him. Rodolph has returned to Kentucky, and makes his season at Lexington.

Mr. JOHN C. STEVENS' horses, shipped to New Orleans on the 6th March, on board the Nashville, arrived out there in safety on the 26th, after a passage of twenty days. The amateur turfmen of that city appear to be highly gratified at the fact of their arrival, and we should not be surprised if African, Bonny Black, and Ethiopia made their appearance on the track during the ensuing Spring meetings in that city.

Bertrand Not Dead!—A correspondent in Ohio thinks the report of the death of Bertrand and Lance premature. We should feel exceedingly gratified if such is the fact, for the demise of Bertrand would be a most serious and positive loss to the American Turf. We have carefully examined the Kentucky papers for some notice of his death, but without effect. The information of the death of Bertrand and Lance was conveyed to us in a letter from a respectable Kentucky breeder, well known in that State, over his own signature.

New Trotting Club at New Orleans.—In addition to four Jockey Clubs, they have now two Trotting Clubs at New Orleans. In any other city we should fear such an excess of sport would soon "run the thing into the ground." CHARLES J. B. FISHER, Esq., our predecessor, is the Secretary of the new Club, which will hold its meetings over the Louisiana Course. The first meeting is to commence on the 27th of the present month. At the request of the Officers of the two Trotting Clubs at New Orleans, and others, we shall endeavor in our next to publish the Rules and Regulations of the Centreville Trotting Course, L. I.

Trotting on the Beacon Course.—We are authorised to state that the proprietors of the Beacon Course, at the solicitation of many gentlemen of great respectability interested in Road Horses, have it in contemplation to establish a TROTTING ASSOCIATION over this Course, with such Rules and Regulations as will ensure its success, and greatly promote the interest of those concerned in the breed and sport of Harness Horses. Meetings, probably, will be held in the interval of the regular races, throughout the year. The first meeting will take place, it is expected, the 2d or 3d Tuesday in next month, when purses sufficient to encourage the training of good horses will be given.

Monmouth Eclipse.—An advertisement of this fine stallion will be found on another page. It is a matter of general notoriety in this quarter that his colts are among the most promising at the North. Capt. STOCKTON sent nearly all his fine mares to him last season, and several other prominent breeders also extended their patronage to him. His colts are blood-like, and have fine size; several of them are in training for the ensuing campaign. Monmouth Eclipse stands at the stable of his breeder, JOSEPH H. VAN MATER, Esq., near Monmouth Court House, N. J.

The Boardman Breeding Stud.—We are glad to learn from a friend, who lately visited this extensive establishment, near Huntsville, Ala., that the Brood Mares and young things are in fine health. Consol and Berner's Comus are in high feather, and are likely to make full seasons. On the 13th of last month had been dropped but three foals of 1838—a Consol, Comus, and Muley Moloch; several others were looked for daily, and will present a great variety of blood. Of the recently imported mares, one is in foal to the great Plenipo', one to Actæon, one to Recovery, three to Stumps, one to Buzzard, one to Battledore, one to Dr. Syntax, one to Velocipede, two to Glaucus, and one to Langar. This splendid breeding stud is a decided acquisition to the country, and if we were not expressly charged—"Thou shalt not covet anything which is thy neighbor's," we should heartily wish it located here in Mr. BOARDMAN's native State. On referring to the List of English Winning Horses for 1837, in to-day's paper, it will be seen that Mr. B. made a most judicious selection of English Stallions; they seem to have been selected with a view to breed colts that could go the distance with their weights up—staunch, serviceable, hard-bottomed nags, with game and stamina enough to run four mile heats, instead of a set of leggy, light carcased "flyers," that are done up in a burst of a mile, and withdrawn from the turf in a few seasons.

New Orleans Races.—A slip, by Express Mail, from the office of "The Picayune," dated the 28th ult., gives us the entries for that day, in races to come off over the new Metarie Course of Adams & Garrison.

In the first race, Mile heats, purse $500, were entered Hon. Alex. Barrow's Lilac, Colonel Bingaman's Tishimingo, T. J. Wells' Taglioni, and Garrison's Charles Magic. We should like to place two of the entries for a Trout Supper—don't all speak at once.

In the second race, Two mile heats, are entered Wm. R. Barrow's Fanny Bell, Garrison's Pollard, Oliver's Joe Kearney, Col. Bingaman's Mad Anthony, and Smith & Chinn's Arbaces. Of the five entries we will place three against the placing of the other two, for—"drinks all round!"

ENGLISH WINNING HORSES IN 1837.

To the exclusion of a great variety of other matter, we present to-day a complete List of ENGLISH WINNING HORSES, at all Distances, in 1837—the first one published this year in America. To Breeders from the Imported Stallions especially, we could have presented nothing more interesting or profitable, while the Table will not fail to attract the serious attention of "all sorts of people" in any way connected with Blood Stock. The amateur even, will be glad to know what strains of blood bear off the palm in England, and he may see it at a glance. The List is complete, and made up with the utmost accuracy.

It will be a source of much gratification to those (we might say thousands) gentlemen interested remotely or directly in imported stock, to find their judgment, in most cases, so amply confirmed by the performances of their favorite stock across the Atlantic. Look for instance at our imported Stallions:—

Priam	got 12	winners,	that	won 26	prizes.	Luzborough	got 2	winners	that	won 6	prizes
Shakspeare	" 8	"	"	" 13	"	Chateau Margaux	2	"	"	" 3	"
Zinganee	" 5	"	"	" 15	"	Emancipation	2	"	"	" 2	"
Rowton	" 3	"	"	" 5	"	Flexible	1	"	"	" 5	"
Lapdog	" 2	"	"	" 7	"	Tranby	1	"	"	" 1	"

It must be borne in mind that Priam's oldest colts are but 3 yrs. old, and the same remark applies to Shakspeare and others in the above list. Indeed two of Priam's winners are but 2 yrs. old. Of Shakspeare's eight winners, four are 3, and an equal number 2 yrs. old. Both of Emancipation's winners are 2 yrs. old, while Zinganee has two 4 yrs. old, one 3 yr. old, and two 2 yr. olds.

Two Mile Winners.—The negligence of the Secretaries of Jockey Clubs is proverbial. The following extract from a letter is an apt illustration. It is dated Athens, Ala., March 16th:—

"In publishing the List of Two Mile Winners for 1837, you will put my mare, Eliza Coe, down as a winner at Huntsville, Ala., on the 17th or 18th of May, 1837. She beat Capt. N. Davis's ch. m. by Badger, and Col. Camp's mare by American Eclipse. I mention this because, in the account I noticed of the race in the Huntsville papers, it was there stated only that N. Terry's s. m. won, &c., &c., when he, in fact, was the trainer, and not the owner. Her name should also have been mentioned, which was neglected. Eliza Coe was by Wild Bill, her dam by Ball's Florizel." Yours truly, JOHN R. MASON.

"The cry is still they come."—Within a few days our "requisition" that each subscriber should send another, has been met by several friends at the South and West in the most glorious manner. A gallant Officer of the U. S. army, in Florida, sent us the names of six "gentlemen like himself." A Canadian turfman, resident not a hundred miles from Kingston, and a distinguished Ohio breeder, have also "particularly distinguished themselves." An eminent member of the Louisiana Legislature writes us that on receiving one morning in the house a duplicate number of The Spirit of the Times, containing the "word to the wise," he immediately handed it over to his friend the Hon. Mr. ——, who occupies a seat next him, and bade him "stand and deliver," which, he adds, he did "like a gentleman and a scholar!" We would publish the letter entire did it not contain encomiums which no one more sensibly than the subject of it, feels are unmerited.

The number of New Subscribers to the Spirit of the Times received between Monday last and yesterday morning, (five days) is EIGHTY-FIVE! With such generous efforts everywhere exercised by the friends of the good cause in our behalf, we might double our list in twelve months, and thereby be enabled by an increased outlay to render this paper, not only superior to any of the kind now in existence, but every thing which its most partial friends could desire.

TENNESSEE AND ALABAMA TURF.

BATESVILLE, (Arks.) March 13, 1838.

MY DEAR P.—I don't know how I can better spend this rainy morning than by giving you a glance at "the Forks of Cypress," Ala., the residence of that spirited breeder, JAMES JACKSON, Esq. Nature and art combined, make it one of the loveliest spots I have ever seen, and it would seem expressly adapted for the rearing of thoroughbreds. His mansion is delightfully situated on a commanding eminence, between the forks of a large and most beautiful creek, with meadow grounds and grass lots, each of which is watered by the creek, or one of the many springs on the place.

Mr. J. has abandoned the raising of cotton on "the Forks," and has fitted it up expressly for a breeding stud. An enthusiastic admirer of "good 'uns"—skilful in detecting the diseases of horses—great experience as to how things should be done, with ample means to put his admirable skill and experience into operation, he can insure attention to all mares sent to his horse. Of the merits of Glencoe, 'tis useless for me to write. That he was the best racer of his day, saving Plenipo, all one conversant with English horses will deny. His colts are very fine, and their first appearance is already filling the harem of their sire. Glencoe is in perfect health this season. Of the mares put to him last season (some 20 odd), all but one proved in foal.

James Jackson & Co. import nothing this year; they made a fling for Gen. Chassé.—His owner, SIR JAMES BOSWELL, asked 4000 pounds for him.

It is said $2500 has been offered and refused for a yearling sister to Angora. JAMES KIRKMAN has bought Paralee Blevins. She is by Leviathan, out of Sally McGhee, by Timoleon. Rumor says Rodolph has been sold for $2000, and Susan Yandell for $700. I can scarcely believe this. Where was old Kentuck? she certainly would not suffer her favorite to fall so low. Race horses, however, are like great men and dogs,—they all have their day. [They were "bought in" at start.]

Luzborough stands near Huntsville, Wild Bill at Huntsville, and will pay his addresses to my favorite Miss Medley. Lap Dog (Imp.) stands in Lincoln, Tenn., about 30 miles from Huntsville, Marion at Tuscumbia, and Post Boy at Murfreesboro'.

TOM KIRKMAN has a 3 yr. old filly, full sister to Extio, untried. She is a superb looking animal, but if she inherits her sister's temper, it will be a great drawback. By the by, Extio is out-growing her old tricks. Did you know she would often take the sulks, and refuse to drink for two days at a time while in training. WATSON has her and Angora. I don't believe they will pay forfeit, and perhaps Fanny Wright may be placed on the wrong side of the Judges' stand.

The Leviathan yearling filly out of Gutty, own sister to Chateau Margaux—the 2 yr. old filly by Taurus, out of Pickle, full sister to Preserve, and the Emilius colt out of Eliza—the first owned by Tom Kirkman, the second by Mr. Jackson, and the third by James Kirkman, are all fine as silk, and worth their weight in mint drops.

The great battle which is to be fought between the descendants of Leviathan and Luzborough is exciting much interest. The Luzboroughs, with Picton at their head, are at Franklin, Tenn.; while the Leviathans are at Col. ELLIOTT's, with Sarah Bladen to set them off.

It will be a bursting race, much, and heavy betting. The Luzborough boys believe strong in Picton; they, together with all others uninitiated into the secret of what Sarah Bladen can do, will go it with a perfect whirlwind on him. On the other hand, there are some Southern chaps who believe strong in the Leviathans, and still stronger in "Old Jim's" judgment in making matches, that will bleed as freely as they would on four legs. For my part, I would take an L. or a C. that the filly wins the first heat, though I am obliged to think that unless the game Picton has been injured in his splendid race last Fall, he will prove conqueror. Sarah Bladen has no public record of what she can do; it is like seeing a "blind" to go against her. If the track is good, and both in good fix, you will see it cut off in 7:40. Truly yours, N.

GREAT MATCH RACES, ETC., AT NATCHEZ, MISS.

Our special correspondent has furnished us with a complete report of the important Matches of last month, over the Pharsalia Course, at Natchez, Miss., from which, and other sources, we compile that annexed.

SATURDAY, March 3 1838—Match, $500 a-side, One mile.
Col. A. L. Bingaman's ch. c. Capt. McHeath, by Imp. Leviathan, out of Miss Bailey, 2 yrs. 70lbs. 1
Col. Robt Smith's ch. f. Lavinia, by Imp. Leviathan, out of Parasol by Napoleon, 2 yrs. 67lbs. 2
Time, 1:58. Track heavy.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, a large number of amateurs in horse flesh were assembled to witness this match. We saw the winner in January last; he is a remarkably fine, game looking colt, a chesnut without white, about 15 hands high. Col. BINGAMAN has nominated him in a great number of stakes, in most of which he is a prominent favorite.

MONDAY, March 5—Match, $1000 a side, Two mile heats.
A. J. Jetton's b. c. Rosin-the-Bow, by Bertrand, out of Lady Grey by Robin Grey, 3 yrs. 86lbs. 1 1
Davison & Pitcher's ch. f. Mary Jones, by Imp. Barefoot, dam by Eclipse, 4 y. 97lbs. 2 2
Time, 3:56—4:02.

The winner was bred by LEWIS SANDERS, Esq., of Grass Hills, Ky., who ran him a winning race at Elkhorn in his 2 yr. old form, under the name of Phæton. He has since been run by Col. BINGAMAN with success. Mary Jones we saw at Vicksburg: she is a pretty mare, with many of the characteristics of Barefoot's get at the North, where she was bred, on Long Island, we believe.

SATURDAY, March 10—Sweepstakes for 2 year olds, colts 70lbs., fillies 67lbs. —— subs. at $500 each, $150 ft. Mile heats.
Col. Robt Smith's ch f. Lavinia, pedigree above 1 1
Wm. J. Minor's (John Routh's) imp. br f. by Tramp, out of Marchesa by Comus .... 3 dr
Col. A. L. Bingaman's ch. c. Capt. McHeath, pedigree above ..... *dis
Time, 1:57. * Distanced by "rule."

So great a degree of interest was felt in the result of this race as to attract a large concourse, notwithstanding the inauspicious state of the weather. The following gentlemen were appointed officers for the day:—John Steele, Thos. Ewbank Leefe, and Wm. W. Gift, Judges in the Stand; Dr. E. P. Pollard and A. Conally, Distance Judges; Col. Thos. Watson and F. Leigh Claiborne, Timers.

Capt. McHeath was the favorite at odds. They got away, writes our correspondent, with an excellent start, the Captain taking the lead. The fillies pressed him and kept him at his work during the first burst of half a mile, when he shook them off, and came home a gallant winner by several lengths. Judging from his superior running in this heat, there is no doubt of his ability to have won the stake with ease, but for the following untoward circumstance. His jockey had dismounted according to the instructions given from the Stand by the Judges, and while Mr. PRYOR, his trainer, was ungirthing the saddle, one of the grooms attendant upon the stable, unthinkingly threw a blanket over him. Exception having been taken to this infraction of the Rules of the Club by Mr. MINOR and Col. SMITH, Capt. McHeath was declared by the Judges to be distanced. The rule is in these words:—

"Rule 42. No clothing of any description shall be put on a horse after a heat, until the rider dismounts, and the saddle is taken off, on pain of being distanced."

The rule is imperative, and the testimony of its violation was so conclusive, that the Judges could have made no other decision. However, it gave rise to a strong ebullition of feeling on the part of several friends of Capt. McHeath, which excited some unpleasant circumstances, and finally induced Mr. Minor to withdraw his filly. Lavinia, having now no competitor, was declared the winner, and the stakes were given up to her indefatigable owner, Col. Smith.

TUESDAY, March 13—Sweepstakes for 3 year olds, colts 86lbs., fillies 83lbs. Seven subs. at $1000 each, $250 ft. Two mile heats.
Col. A. L. Bingaman's ch. c. Tishimingo, own brother to Lilac 1 1
Wm. J. Minor's imp. br. f. Britannia, by Muley, out of Nancy, Longwaist's dam 2 2
Mr. Minor's Doncaster, Mr. Wells' Longitude and Jane Elliott, Mr. Elliott's Catherine, and Capt. Duncan's Wren ..... pd.ft
Time, 4:05—4:06.

Wren had been the favorite for this stake, but fell amiss a few days before the race; Longitude was also out of order, and Catherine dead lame—circumstances which disappointed "all sorts of people," who confidently anticipated that five would start. The track was excessively heavy; it commenced raining the night previous, and continued throughout the day. The Officers for this day were John Routh, Harry Cage, and G. B. Shields, Esqrs., Judges; John Steele, Levin Covington, and Stephen Routh, Esqrs., Distance Judges; and C. A. Thornton, D. W. Haxall, and Silas Lillard, Esqrs., Patrole Judges. The Timers were Wm. J. Minor, and Thos. E. Leefe, Esqrs.; Stewards, Stephen Elliott and Thomas Evans, Esqrs.

Tishimingo was the favorite, and won both heats without a struggle. He is a smart chunk of a horse, about 15 hands, and though of sufficient substance for his height, would not weigh so much by 500 lbs. as his own sister, the beautiful Lilac, owned by our friends BALIE PEYTON and ALEX. BARROW. Tishimingo greatly resembles in color, shape, and size the Long Island Moore family, of Mr. ROBERT L. STEVENS, though he neither has the foot of Tom, nor the game of Henry. Tom's mile time last year was the best made in the country; it is yet to be proved whether Henry's proper distance is four miles, but as he won three times last year in his 4 yr. old form at Three mile heats, and CONOVER now thinks him about a distance better than ever, a certain black and a chesnut colt, both of the same age, that we wot of, must let out a link to beat him.

SAME DAY—Second Race—Match, $10,000 a-side, $5000 ft. J. C. weights, 107lbs. on each Three mile heats.
Thos. Jefferson Wells' ch. m. Linnet, by Imp. Leviathan, out of Object by Marshal Ney, 5 yrs. 1 1
Col. A. L. Bingaman's ch. m. Angora, by Imp. Leviathan, out of Patty Puff by Pacolet, 5 yrs. ..... *dis
Time, 6:06. * Distanced by her jockey's falling off.

Angora had the track; at the tap of the bell they went off together, Linnet pushing for the lead; at the turn, the saddle upon Angora slipped upon her neck, but Nelson got behind it, and led the dance at a slapping pace along the back stretch, Linnet trailing. In this way they went along at a slashing rate for two miles and a half; in the second mile Dick, upon Linnet, went up and challenged, merely as a feeler, and again returned to his former position. There was no faltering, both maintained their killing stroke every foot of the way. In the 3d mile Nelson, from exhaustion, caused by the loss of his saddle and the severe pull he was compelled to keep on Angora, fell off, and the contest was over. Angora, however, continued to struggle for the victory, and when her spirited antagonist turned towards the stand, Angora showed her training by also following. Thus were her laurels plucked from her brow without any show; but if it had not been for this untoward accident, the contest would have been without any parallel in this section of the world. Considering the state of the track, the time made was splendid; it was scarcely possible for it to have been in worse order, in many places it being more than fetlock deep.

WEDNESDAY, March 14—Match, $5000 a-side, h. ft. Each carrying 90lbs. Four mile heats.
Thos. Jefferson Wells' ch. m. Extio, by Imp. Leviathan, out of White Feathers by Conqueror, 5 yrs. 1 1
Col. A. L. Bingaman's ch. m. Fanny Wright, by Bertrand, out of Marcella by Alfred, 5 yrs. 2 2
Time, 8:15—8:08. Track very heavy.

Owing to continued rains, the track was excessively deep, though the day was delightful. The excitement in relation to the match was so general, that thousands of spectators were in attendance, and tens of thousands hazarded upon the issue. The scene was gay and animated to a degree: the new stand was crowded to excess, and the field covered with gallant and spirited horsemen, splendidly mounted, while the ladies, by their attendance, added an additional attraction. The excellent order preserved, together with the arrangements of the Stewards for the accommodation of the immense assemblage, reflected the utmost credit upon themselves, and the Club they represented. Fanny, from her well-earned reputation, was the favorite 2 to 1, and backed by her admirers with a perfect looseness. At the time appointed they made their appearance in front of the judges' stand, Extio full of life and action, but Fanny stale, and entirely out of order. I was informed after the race (writes our correspondent), she had only been up about three weeks, consequently could not have been in any kind of condition.

Fanny had the track and lead, Extio driving her along at a slashing pace; she passed, and was quickly re-passed by Fanny; they ran the 1st mile in 1:54. 2d and 3d mile Fanny still led, with Extio close up; in the fourth Extio made a desperate push, and collared Fanny; now was the interesting moment—Extio finally passed, and Fanny was beaten by several lengths.

The scene was now changed, and the backers of Fanny were in despair; odds to a large amount were offered in favor of Extio. They got off well together, Extio leading at a strong pace, Fanny laying back, evidently with the intention of leaving the issue upon a brush; they continued in this position the first two miles, while the crowd were watching with eagerness when Fanny would show her hand; in the third mile it was exhibited, for in the back stretch she began in earnest, making a dash which brought her up with Extio, and they now ran neck and neck, each making desperate efforts for victory, but the unconquerable Extio maintained her own, and shook her off; this was watched with the greatest anxiety, for it was hardly expected that in the condition in which Fanny was she could keep up "the lick." Extio continued her business-like stroke; Fanny made a last and tremendous struggle, but could not reach Extio, who finally won cleverly by a length, to the utter astonishment of thousands. Not less than $60,000 changed hands.

The annual Spring meeting of the Jockey Club at Natchez commenced on the 21st of March, a report of which has not reached us. Ere this, all the horses engaged are at New Orleans to attend the meeting on the new Metaric course, which commenced on Wednesday week last. We cannot conclude this article without an expression of our sympathy for Col. BINGAMAN, who lost a heavy stake, and a match for $10,000 a-side, purely from an accident, and the most culpable heedlessness. But having won pretty much everything of consequence in his section within the last year or two, no one can better afford to snap his fingers at ill-luck. Beside, what will go far to make good his losses, is the fact of Angora's receiving forfeit from Rodolph, in the great match for 500 Bales of Cotton a-side.

NATCHEZ (Miss.) SPRING RACES.

Since the preceding article was penned we have received from our reporter a report of the regular Jockey Club Meeting at Natchez. He writes that the sport was indifferent, detachments from most of the stables having left for New Orleans as soon as the Matches were over.

The following gentlemen comprise the Officers of the Club for 1838:—JOHN ROUTH, Esq., President; Wm. J. MINOR, Esq., Secretary. Judges—Silas Lillard, John Routh, and Robt. J. Evans, Esqs. MACON (Ga.) SPRING RACES.

Our special correspondent sends us the annexed report of the recent meeting, under date of the 25th ult.

Dear Sir,—The races over the Central Course, near this place, commenced on Tuesday last under very favorable circumstances; the weather was delightfully fine, and continued so during the week. The course is situated about two miles and a half from town; the soil is excellent, and well adapted to make good time. The track is 33 yards short of a mile, but it is the intention of the proprietors, Messrs. LEE, HARDIN & Co., to erect new buildings, and make it a full mile; when this is completed, it will be equal to any one in the State.

The following gentlemen comprise the Officers of the Club:—JNO. L. MUSTIAN, Esq., President; JNO. S. CHILDERS and WM. BALDWIN, Esqrs., Vice Presidents; Wm. Solomon, Jeremiah Smith, Levi Eckley, Wm. B. Johnson, and U. S. Bullock, Esqrs., Stewards; Col. Henry F. Young, Timer; Jno. H. Morgan, Esq., Secretary and Treasurer.

Among the stables in attendance were those of Griffin Edmondson, J. J. Harrison, A. A. Jeter, and Thomas Neal. The attendance at each day's race was thin.

TUESDAY, March 20, 1838—Purse $250, ent. $10, free for all ages, 2 year olds carrying a feather—3, 86lbs.—4, 100—5, 110—6, 118—and aged 126lbs.; with an allowance of 3lbs. to m.'s and g.'s. Mile heats.

Thos. Neal's ch. f. Ajarrah Harrison, by Eclipse, dam by Gallatin, 4 yrs.	1	2	1
Hammond & Lovell's ch. f. Eclipsia, by Eclipse, dam by Arab, 4 yrs.	2	1	2
A. A. Jeter's (J. Herring's) b. g. Tillett, by Seagull, dam by Whip, 4 yrs.	3	dr

Time, 1:50—1:52—1:57. Track 33 yards short of a mile.

1st heat—Eclipsia led off and kept the lead until entering the quarter stretch, when Ajarrah passed her with much apparent ease, and won the heat by about three lengths. 2d heat—Eclipsia again took the lead, with Ajarrah close up, and on the back side a very pretty contest took place, neck and neck, for some distance, but Eclipsia succeeded in shaking her off, and winning by about a length. 3d heat—They both got off well together—whip and spur from the word "go"—Eclipsia a little in advance, until they came to the last quarter, when Ajarrah with some difficulty came up and gave her the go-by, and won the heat by three lengths.

WEDNESDAY, March 21—Purse $350, ent. $20; free for all ages; weights as before; Two mile heats.

Hammond & Lovell's gr. m. Sally Vandyke, by Henry, dam by Oscar, 5 yrs.	2	1	1

Thos. Neal's b. f. Eliza Hunter, by Red Shark, dam by Mucklejohn, 3 yrs.	3	dist.

Time, 3:49—3:48—3:52. Track 33 yards short of a mile.

Southerner was the favorite against the field at odds. Sally Vandyke had much improved in condition and appearance since the race she ran with Monarch over the Hampton Course a few weeks back. Southerner led off at a steady rate, and maintained his position throughout, winning by about two lengths. 2d heat—Southerner went off again with the lead, Sally lying close at his heels, the filly about three lengths behind; they remained in this order until coming up the quarter stretch, when Sally made a tremendous rush, came up and collared him, when a most exciting contest ensued; they came to the stand together, and the Judges finally decided that Sally won by a throat latch. 3d heat—Sally took the lead at a killing pace, but the colt soon challenged and passed her, and continued upwards of two lengths a-head for about a mile and a half, when Sally made a brush, locked him, and after a tremendous struggle, beat him by about half a length.

THURSDAY, March 22—Purse $500, ent. $30; free for all ages; weights as before; Three mile heats.

Hammond & Lovell's ch. c. Gerow, by Henry, dam by Eclipse, 3 yrs.	1	1
G. Edmondson's ch. f. Ione, by John Richards, dam by Imp. Expedition, 4 yrs.	2	2

Time, 5:59—5:49. Track 33 yards short of a mile.

The betting was principally 3 to 2 on Gerow, but very few takers. At the tap of the drum they got off well together, Gerow led, and maintained his position throughout. 2d heat—Gerow went at it again at a merry rate, and never was headed, although he ran under a great disadvantage, occasioned by one of his stirrup straps breaking; however, his rider kept his hold admirably, and won cleverly hard in hand.

FRIDAY, March 23—Purse $750, ent. $40; free for all ages; weights as before; Four mile heats.

COLUMBUS (Ga.) SPRING RACES.

Dear Sir,—The races over the Western Course, at Columbus, Ga., have just terminated, and I hasten to report them for publication in your valuable Sporting Chronicle. The attendance was rather thin, notwithstanding the fine purses offered by our spirited Club. Perhaps it was owing to their being too early. But however, we had good running, and those who witnessed them were highly gratified.

Time, 8:15—8:08. Track very heavy from a severe rain the previous night.

In this race it was hard to tell which was the favorite. Both parties seemed a little shy. The Count having won a pretty hard race on Monday of two mile heats, which created a fear that it might make him too sore for this day's performance. Yet the young and noble animal still retained the good opinion he so gallantly earned on Monday, by beating Kite with little trouble. Kite had made one or two fair races, yet, as our old friend Crowell would say, "that cursed colt has too much foot for most of your horses."

SAME DAY—Second Race—Sweepstakes for all ages, weights as above; 4 subs. at $10 each, P.P., with $100 added by the Proprietor. One mile out.

Mobile Races.—We gave a summary of these races last week, with the exception of the Three mile day, of which no report had been received. The New Orleans "True American" of the 19th ult. contains the annexed paragraph:—

"The three mile purse, $1000, was won on Thursday by H. A. Tayloe's Hortense, beating Melzare by a length, in 5:50 in both heats. It is impossible to get a proper account from the Mobile papers, for their editors have peculiar notions on race matters—sires, dams, age, weight, &c. &c., are deemed unimportant. One of them terms the four mile Jockey Club race 'a sweepstakes!'"

Mr. DAVID P. PALMER, late the trainer of FERDINAND PINCKARD, Esq., of Vicksburg, Miss., has a stable at New Orleans, under his charge, which will give a good account of itself, we reckon.

The names Caroline Clifford and Jeff Wells bespoke.

Mr. P.—I propose to christen and stand sponsor for the first thorough-bred filly which shall foal the property of a sloe-eyed friend, of not "lang syne," T. J. WELLS, Esq., the spirited turfman of the Red River Range. She shall be crossed, and called Caroline Clifford. To make her a true Pegasa, which the name will well nigh do, I should have her dam by Leviathan, and her sire should be Bertrand—the mighty Bertrand! C. Clifford it is. Because the warm-hearted breeder will not say me no, and because there is a sweet, verdant spot in his memory which bids him say yea!

I bespeak the name (if the sex shall justify) of Jeff Wells for Lady McTabb's colt by John Richards. If a good name could do good, he too would be a flyer.

I should just like to have a little talk with your "N. of Arkansas," but my friend Charley ———. His judgment for the coming season might help me to a Mingo. Of that man it may be said, he is a diamond in the rough. His shoulders are early youth, his head is manhood's pride. He will go the pace, the killing pace, and nothing but the winning pace. He will train on, and finally come off sound in wind and limb. Land or no land, he is rich in the opinions of the judicious. A correspondent of yours wonders if he is brave? Pooh! He lives where a coward is worse off than a cat would be (somewhere) without claws. If any one should feel "wolfish about the head and shoulders," let him go to "N. of Arks.," and I will warrant he shall receive a prescription which will keep him from spoiling until he shall have the dead rot, or I am not

News by the Packets.

By recent packets we have the London weekly papers to the 25th February, and daily journals to the 28th, in addition to Liverpool papers of the 1st of March. The current Magazines of the month were not received by us or our neighbors; they were probably too late for the packet of the 1st, and may be expected in that of the 8th, which is looked for hourly. We have made the following selections from the papers before us, comprising the most important items of intelligence in the Sporting, Theatrical and Fashionable world, as detailed in Bell's Life in London, The Age, The Town, The Satirist, The Sunday Times, The Sun, The United Service Gazette, The Court Journal, The Examiner, Bell's Weekly Messenger, The Yorkshireman, etc., etc.

LATEST STATE OF THE ODDS.—[From Bell's Life in London, Feb. 25.]—The Derby.—The betting on Monday took rather a wider sweep than usual, its chief features being a reversal of the positions of Cobweb and Nonplus, and a slight decline in some of the other favorites. Nonplus was backed for about two hundred pounds at 10 to 1—the other not at all; nevertheless, several offers were made to take him for choice, on the strength of which he became "cock of the walk" at 9 to 1, offers, the actual difference between the two being about half a point. Grey Momus "kept his own," and no more, while D'Egville, although backed for two or three rouleaus, was not by any means generally fancied. Ion and Young Rowton severally gave way a point, nor did the outlay of one hundred and fifty pounds leave Monc Adam in so good a position as he filled on the previous Thursday. The Early Bird's friends mustered in some force, and, notwithstanding there was a fair proportion of layers, contrived to give him a more promising aspect than he has presented of late. Cobham was backed once at 1000 to 45, and two or three offers were made to take 30 to 1 about Richard Roe, but only 25 b.d. Some bets were made about Bamboo, Volunteer, Cracker, Tranby's dam, Dædalus, Blaise, &c., without affecting the odds. It will be observed, that ever since the commencement of the betting on this stake, the odds against outside horses have been extravagantly high. Richard Roe, Bretby, David Gellatley (or Go-lately, Go-lightly, Go-latterly, Go-lastly, &c., as he is indiscriminately called by those who are not over particular), Caligula, Amato, Allerston, Blaise, Dromedary, Gonfalon, Aleppo, Muley Moloch, and a score more whom we could name, have figured at 1000 to 10. Some of them have advanced, others continue there, and every day adds to their numbers, without checking the eagerness of the betters of the odds. Now, if we look at the Oaks betting from the beginning, we shall find that the odds betted against the different fillies have been singularly low, and that, as a betting race, it has been uncommonly favorable to those who were lucky enough to open their books in time. Some little business was done on it on Thursday. Callisto was backed for a hundred and fifty at 8½ to 1, and considerable anxiety evinced to get on Glenara. The filly out of Rowton's dam (left behind at Malton) was also in some request, and a few small bets made about Lord Berner's filly, Romania, &c.

On Thursday things remained in pretty nearly the same state with respect to the three favorites as on Monday. Perhaps the Cobweb colt was a shade better; but as 9 to 1, taken once, was afterwards offered currently, the improvement was scarcely perceptible. D'Egville at 13 to 1—plenty of betters, but no takers. Little or no alteration in the next three. Two small bets were made on Cobham, one at 22 and the other at 20 to 1; it should be understood, however, that the disposition to back him is confined to a very small number. Bamboo nominally two points better—Richard Roe as before, but neither of them backed outright. Bretby rose several points; he is backed in good quarters. Plenty of outside betting, but no changes. Callisto was backed for the Oaks at 8 to 1 (afterwards offered), and an increased anxiety shown to back Glenara. The others as before, saving only Mary Gray, who has given way to the filly out of Rowton's dam, represented by private letters to be the mare.

Lord Chesterfield's filly by Priam, out of Rowton's dam, 3 yrs. old, started from Malton on Thursday last for the south.

The following blood mares have lately been purchased by Mr. Cortis, veterinary surgeon, of York, viz.:—Laurel Leaf, by Brutandorf, out of Theophania, by Walton; Lady Betty, by Figaro, out of Cottage Girl, by Thunderbolt; Beatrice, by Blacklock, out of Royal Oaks dam, by Smolensko; b. m. by Humphrey Clinker, out of Wandering Boy's dam; b. m. by Humphrey Clinker, out of Laura, by Don Cossack. We hear, that after increasing the number to ten, and getting them covered by some of the first rate stallions, with which York and its neighborhood abounds, it is the intention of Mr. Cortis to export them to Russia.

Within the last four days four brood mares have arrived at the Turf Tavern stables, Doncaster, to be put to Bay Middleton, viz.:—Mr. Greville's Preserve, Mr. H. Coombe's Tiara, Lord Jersey's Trampoline, and a brown mare belonging to his Lordship.

Mr. Richard Spencer, trainer, died on the 8th instant at his house at Hodnesford. He was known as one of the first jockeys of his day, but for several years past he had discontinued riding.

SHOOTING EXTRAORDINARY.—A few days since as Mr. William Sharpe, gamekeeper to R. T. North, Esq., Thurland Castle, was ranging upon the banks of the river Lune, he observed two swans, which took the wing at the same time. He having a double-barrelled gun, fired and killed one with each barrel; one weighing 17 lbs., the other 23 lbs. making three he has shot in ten days.

On Tuesday last Mr Mostyn's Queen of Trumps, Queen Bess, and Archduchess, arrived at Mr. Kirby's stables, York, to be put to Muley Moloch.

The Rifle Club shot at Chalk Farm on Thursday last for a gold medal. Mr Moore, of the Edgware road, was again the winner. The shooting commenced at 250 yards, six shots from the shoulder and six from the rest; at 200 yards, six shots from the shoulder; at 150 yards, six shots from the shoulder. Mr. Moore hit the target 19 times, making 7 bull's-eyes nearly in the centre. How many members shot, and of how many does the club consist? Mr. Moore may have been shooting against himself.

To the Editor of Bell's Life in London.

SIR,—Through the medium of your widely-circulated journal I beg to state to the sporting world, that I have a man that I will back from £25 to £100, to go on foot a five or ten miles steeple chace, against any horse that can be produced, the rider to weigh at least 10 st. 5 lbs. Both pedestrian and horse to take 100 leaps: ditches, hurdles, or walls, from three to five feet high, either to be cleared, or got over the best manner possible. Should any gentleman feel inclined to make the match, that arrangement can be entered into in making the articles.—I am always to be found at the Admiral Keppel Inn, Fulham-road, Chelsea.

Feb. 22, 1838. Yours, respectfully, NIMROD.

ELEY'S WIRE CARTRIDGES.—In our last we gave an extract from a provincial paper describing the success of Col. Hawker in wild fowl shooting. We have since seen a letter from that gentleman, from which it appears he has been using Eley's improved patent wire cartridges, and not, as was stated, a charge of 2¼ lb. of shot. The cartridge he uses is No. 1, containing 12½ oz. of shot. He says, in a letter to Mr. Eley:—"So much for your No. 1 cartridges, and as a proof of their efficacy at all sized birds, I'll tell you five successive shots I made with the last lot. 1st, 20 geese; 2d, 29 geese; 3d, a single wild swan, about 90 yards; 4th, 16 geese; 5th, 3 curlews, 4 plovers, and 51 oxbirds—these were beside what I did not pick up. Show this to whom you please, it's no secret, and merely doing you justice to name it. The 12½ oz. is the very quantity of shot that does best, so never deviate."

MANTON AND ELEY.—Messrs. Manton recently sent a double-barreled gun to Capt. Ross, at Rossie Castle, and had the satisfaction of receiving the following testimony to its merits. After describing the general excellence of the gun, the Captain says:—"It is a singular circumstance that the two first shots fired from it at any living animal were certainly two of the most remarkable ever made. I had not the good fortune to be the shooter. One of my keepers, who was going to wash the gun after I had been trying it at a mark, saw a numerous flock of wild geese settle in a field at no great distance. He put in one of Eley's wire cartridges of BB shot in each barrel, and got within about fifty yards of them. He killed five with the first barrel, and three with the second. I never heard, in all my sporting career, of such a piece of good fortune. Three more were wounded, but got away."

HINTS TO YOUNG SPORTSMEN BY A ROUGH RIDER.—Did any of your readers ever know old Frank Clater, the farrier? (There were no veterinary surgeons, nor no college in them days). Ah! that was a man; he was the chap to look over a hos. The animal needn't speak to tell him what was the matter. He published a veterinary pharmacopy before he died, and wrote it in a way that can be understood;—if you don't believe me, jist look at his book, and you'll see how to treat all diseases that belong to hosses, and more particklarly dry gripes, farcy, mange, moon eyes, yellow jaundice, joint oil, crown scab, grinders. Bless ye, 'twould do a hoss good to look at old Clater. There was nothin of the stable in his appearance, but he looked like a respectable old gentleman, who had jist popped in to take a pipe, or bit of supper, with the coachman. And then there was his son, young Frank; he know'd somethin about dogs; but I shall, perhaps, return to their practice shortly, and point out the superiority of the old school over the new 'un.

SKATING.—A few days ago, Mr. Simpson, a Cambridge gentleman, well known for his various sporting exploits, undertook, for a trifling wager, to skate to Ely and back again (a distance of 40 miles) within four hours. This he accomplished within three hours and a half, and making some short stay at Ely for refreshment. In performing this he had many obstacles to contend with, in which consisted the chief difficulty of the undertaking. He was compelled to leave the ice eight times, and to walk a considerable distance in his skates each time, in order to pass the locks; and when, in addition to this, we consider that there was a considerable fall of snow on the ice throughout the whole distance, and also that many miles of it were so rough as to be almost impassable on skates, it was certainly an undertaking requiring considerable skill, combined with no ordinary strength and perseverance.

The will of the Duchess of St. Alban's was proved in the Prerogative Court of the Archbishop of Canterbury on Friday, the 15th instant, by Mr. Majoribanks, Mr. M. Coulthurst, and Sir E. Antrobus, Bart., three of the executors; Mr. W. G. Adam and Mr. J. Parkinson, the other surviving executors, having at present declined taking upon themselves the execution of their trusts. This will is dated on the 14th of March, 1827, and the signatures are written in a bold style. There is also a codicil to the will of the same date, the latter of which gives various legacies and annuities to servants and different individuals, varying in amount from £50 to £500. Amongst the legacies given by the will, is one of £20,000 to Sophia Burdett, the wife of Sir Francis, which is stated to be in addition to a sum of money already given to her, amounting to £118,602 15s. This sum may be accounted for as given in her (testatrix's) lifetime, as the late Mr. Coutts left her universal legatee under his will, and also left her the power of giving to his children what she considered proper, in order to avoid paying the legacy duty, and which it would appear she has fully and amply done. She bequeaths by her will her mansion in Piccadilly to Miss Angela Georgina Burdett, and appoints her her residuary legatee, which will put that lady in possession of nearly £500,000. The personal property has been sworn by the executors to be under the value of £600,000. The executors are all partners in the banking-house, her share of which is also bequeathed to Mr. Burdett.

Royal Patronage of the Turf.—On dit, the Queen's Plates are to be continued to all courses hitherto patronised by Royalty; and Melbourne can attest that the Queen's Plates are always well filled, and worth running for.

Darkness Visible.—The Charivari says, "The House of Commons has just been lighted with gas, to facilitate the nocturnal deliberations of its Members.—Our deputies will spare us a similar expense, as they transact no business either by night or day." As far as actual "business" goes, the Members of our "Deformed House" might as well have spared us the expense of gas-lighting St. Stephen's Chapel; for as to the affairs of the nation, we are kept just as much in the dark as ever.

Canada.—That Malthus in petticoats, Miss Martineau, writes down Canada as "a place where people row boats and sing 'Row, brothers, row, and all that."—Glenelg and Gosford report it to be a place where people kick up a row whenever a Colonial Secretary is too drowsy to attend to their affairs, or a Governor too indolent to take precautionary measures for keeping them in order.

The Octogenarian Bridegroom.—The old gouty octogenarian Earl of Essex, it is confidently stated, is about to wed the syren Kitty Stephens, the singer—the hymenial affair having been thus long delayed in consequence of the time it took the late Countess to die. Of course, Miss Stephens cannot expect anything from the old un but the title and jointure; indeed at 82 it would be cruel to think of anything further. If, however, with the precedent of old Coke tempting him, the Earl should imagine further "Porro unum est necessarium," we beg him to be prudent. It would grieve us much to see the following epitaph at Cashiobury:—

"Four letters his name and deeds express—
He lived as S X, and died of X S."

Spring-heeled Jack.—We are requested to state that the suburban ghost who has been playing so many demoniac pranks at midnight, to the consternation of spinsters at Clapham, and horrification of others at Hammersmith, Hackney, &c., and who goes by the name of Spring-heeled Jack, is not my Lord John Russell. Who ever said he was? His Lordship is too busily engaged of an evening on affairs of State to go about ghosting or doing any thing else to the spinsters in the suburbs or elsewhere.

The Prince, and Princess of Capua, (late Miss Penelope Smythe, the "Cork Venus,") with their son, the young Prince Francesco de Bourbon, and suite, have arrived at Mivart's.

Dormant Title.—The dormant Scotch title of Earl of Oxenford will shortly be revived in the person of the rightful heir, a native of Dublin. The rental of the estates, now in possession of the Crown, is estimated at more than £70,000 per annum, besides upwards of £100,000 of ready money.

The late Shah of Persia was quite "a family man," according to the account given by Mr. Fraser, and could boast of begetting 130 sons and 150 daughters, among whom the "three Persian Princes," lately in London, were numbered. He had, to be sure, some six or seven hundred wives, which may help to account for the number of his descendants; but taking even this circumstance into consideration, the result would speak well for oriental prowess. So large a family must of course be expensive, but as the Shah possessed the privilege of quartering them upon his subjects, this was of little consequence. We ought to be thankful that such royal families are not to be met with in Europe, for if kings exercised the same privilege every where, the results would be awful. So dazzling a display of "brilliants" would be perfectly overpowering.

That Eldon should leave to old Pincher eight pounds,
Is noble indeed, and all parties astounds;
But his will with such sturdy conditions he clogs,
That but eight pounds a year shall e'er go to the dogs.

Beresford and his lady were having a slight altercation the other day, when the Admiral becoming excited, exclaimed, "Upom my soul, my dear, you'll make me do something serious at last." "I wish you would," was the cool reply of his better half.

Mr. G. Onslow, the celebrated composer, an Englishman, has just come into a splendid fortune by the death of the Marchioness de Fontanges, to whose only daughter he was married. Paris Paper.

Theatrical Spec.—That fascinating actress, and now unrivalled ballad-singer, Mrs. Waylett, is said to have become the lessee of the Garrick Theatre, in conjunction with Mr. T. Parry. If the report be true, we wish both success. As for the latter he can parry the thrusts of ill fortune; but we sincerely hope the result of the enterprise may be such as to leave his fair partner no cause to be-wail-it.

The first and second lieutenants of a man of war, both great anglers, once disputed concerning the fly season for a particular month, one arguing that the horse fly was then in season, the other replying that there was no such fly. At the moment an able sailor, who was also a skilful angler, passed, and the disputants agreed to leave the question to Jack. "Jack," said the first lieutenant "did you ever see a horse fly?" "No, your honor," replied the tar; "but I have seen as curious a thing—I have seen a cow jump down a precipice."

Absence of Mind.—A most unfortunate instance recently happened in Cincinnati. A poor gentleman went to the cupboard for a dram. In a state of mental alienation, he swallowed the contents of a bottle which contained oil, used for turning light hair black. He instantly commenced changing color, and has since become a most perfect negro. The deep grief of his beautiful and devoted wife is absolutely heart rending.

A Itinerant Ballad Singer's List.—"If I had a donkey vot vouldn't go, Over the hills and far away—He was famed for deeds of arms—Barclay and Perkins' Drayman—Dark was the night The light of other Days—The Maid of Llangollen,—Does your anxious mother know you're out? Ax my Eye—Tell her I love her hookey Walker—Sound the Loud Timbrel, Blow me Tight—I've been roaming, Don't mention it—The Washing Day How are you for Soap? Good Night All's Well—Blow the Candle out, &c. &c. &c."

Complimentary.—A Yankee and an English captain, each in a schooner, tried speed in Gibralter Bay, when our countryman beat John Bull all hollow.—They met on shore the next day, and the Englishman swore that he had never been out-sailed before. "Just like me," said Jonathan, "for my Jemima never beat nothing before."

A Proper Distinction.—Gov. Chittenden, chief magistrate of Vermont, was of humble birth, and rose by the force of talent to his exalted station. Yet while Governor of the green mountain empire, he still continued to keep the same tavern upon the steep hill side, that he kept many years before. One evening a wagoner drove up and accosted him thus: Gov. Chittenden, as chief magistrate of Vermont, I render you all homage; but as landlord Chittenden, I'll thank you to turn out my horses!

Memory at Whist Playing.—The system of devising any artificial memory for whist, I vote to be a dead take in. Writers direct us, after counting our cards, to place certain suits in different relative positions; sticking the trumps at the back of the others—by way, I presume, of showing metaphorically upon what the hand rests as its chief support.—Thirteen cards again are to be placed by themselves in some quiet snuggery, like old bachelors in an alms-house. Now, I maintain that not only in whist, but in every thing else, the more you attempt to prop the faculty of memory by adventitious means, the more you undermine its constitution. Men, who 'memorandumise' their tablets upon all the petty details of life, and cannot recollect a dinner engagement without noting it down in black and white, weaken their memory by thus mistrusting its powers. Like our other faculties, this precious organ can only be maintained in a healthy state by being boldly leant upon and exercised. What would become of your legs, were you to take a couple of crutches by way of helping them along? The thing speaks for itself, but cannot be too fully exemplified. Our great Rothschild could do business throughout the most complicated forms, to the amount of millions, during the whole of the day, and could then at night record the whole from memory alone, and write down each transaction in order. O what a whist memory would this have been! Follow, I beseech you, Mr. Rothschild's plan. Take up your cards, count them carefully, reckon how many you hold of each suit, but do not alter the position of a single card. A very little practice will enable you to appreciate the advantage of acquiring thus the habit of keeping your cards placed indiscriminately. Go off in the right path, and your future progess is certain. In quitting this topic, I would enforce it upon you as points to be especially recollected: who dealt last, and what was the turn-up card. Admiral Burney is perfectly right in calling this a difficult thing to remember; but adds, with equal propriety, that by a predetermined attention to these particulars during six following deels the observance will become a habit.

MONMOUTH ECLIPSE.

THIS real thorough-bred horse will stand the ensuing season at the stable of the subscriber, in Monmouth county, New Jersey, eight miles below the Court House, and one from the Academy, at $40 for insuring thorough-bred mares, and $1 to the groom—the money to be paid by the 1st March, 1838.

Monmouth Eclipse is full 15 hands 3 inches high, free from white, with as much bone, muscle, powers and proportion as any blood horse in the State; and by his following pedigree it will appear that he inherits the most valuable crosses of blood to combine great strength with speed and bottom.

His sire was the unrivalled horse American Eclipse, by Duroc, a son of the imported sorrel Diomed (the sire also of Sir Archie), out of Amanda by Grey Diomed, out of the Cade mare by King Herod—Primrose by Dove—Stella by Othello—Selima by the Godolphin Arabian.

The dam of American Eclipse was Miller's Damsel (the celebrated Turf mare, that beat the Maid of the Oaks, Hampton, &c.) by Old Messenger, out of the imported Pot-8-o's mare, owned by Gen. Coles, and own sister to Bright Phœbus, Romp, Hopper Boy, &c.

The dam of Monmouth Eclipse was the noted Turf Mare Old Honesty, and full sister to Prize Fighter; she was bred by Mr. Stephen Hunt, of Hunterdon, New Jersey. She has run successfully from half a mile to four miles, and has distinguished herself on the turf, both North and South. She was sired by Imp. Expedition, he by Pegasus, and Pegasus by the old English Eclipse.

The grandam of Monmouth Eclipse was Zelipha, and got by Imp. Messenger, g. g. dam, Dido, by Gen Morris' Imp. Bay Richmond—Dido was the dam of Pollydore, Grasshopper, and other good racers—g. g. g. dam Slamerkin by Imp. Wildair, g. g. g. g. dam by Old Cub, g. g. g. g. g. dam by Second, g. g. g. g. g. g. dam by Sterling, g. g. g. g. g. g. g. dam by Old Partner, &c. &c.

Monmouth Eclipse has stood for mares every season since he was three years old; and of course has been very little upon the Turf. He was taken from his stand in the year 1831, after the season was out, and run only one race, and that at New Brunswick—the three mile heats, in bad order—beating John Brewer, Humming Bird, Leopold, and Amanda—which race was won by Warrior. In the Spring of 1832 he made his second race, at Monmouth Court House, the two mile heats, and won, beating Gen. Erwin's gr. h. Laurel, by Windflower, and Dr. Darcey's f. Lady Relief, by American Eclipse—both of the last named horses beat Warrior the Fall before at Trenton. In the Spring of 1834 he was started at Trenton, N. J., the three mile heats, against Henry Archie, John Stevens, and Tell Tale One of his legs being injured, he was to go for the first heat—the rider, from having been reduced, was taken unwell directly after the horses started, and was compelled to keep him back, so much so, that he was thought to be considerably out of his three mile distances before he had run two miles; the rider finally recovered and got in his distance. The 2d heat he again started, although his injured limb gave way more than half a mile before the heat was out—he won the heat, which was the quickest heat of the race—and was then drawn.

JOSEPH H. VAN MATER.

Monmouth County, N. J., March 29, 1838. [a7—4t]

FOXES WANTED.

A Liberal price will be paid at This Office 157 Broadway, for three pair of full grown red FOXES, male and female. They are wanted to propagate the breed in a hunting district at the South, in which they will be turned loose. No certificate of their "pedigree or performances" will be required, but tame or lame varmint need not apply. For staunch, nasty, full grown fellows, "of the right sort," caught wild, a very liberal price will be given.

CHARLES KEMBLE.

THIS splendid racer and approved Stallion will make his present season in the vicinity of Lancaster, Pa. Charles Kemble was got by Sir Archy, out of Pilot's dam, by Gallatin—thus combining the most fashionable strains of blood in the country. Last year he proved a very sure foal getter, and his colts exhibit great promise. The dam of Trifle and Malinda are both in foal to him—the very strongest evidence of the estimation in which he is held by distinguished breeders. [a7-6t.]

TO THE PUBLIC,

AND OWNERS OF STALLIONS IN THE UNITED STATES.—We have recently observed that in the advertisement of the Imported Horse Shakspeare, his owners have placed him in comparison with Leviathan. We do not in the least object to this, but as they commenced it, we must insist on the game being played out. And without saying a word against any other person's horse, we claim the right of doing justice to our own. In giving the performance of Shakspeare, in the race in which he was beaten by Leviathan, is only alluded to obscurely in this line, "The above are all his races except one, when he was beaten by a fresh horse." Now the Racing Calendar contains as full an account of that as any other race which they have published. And we presume there is no more impropriety in our supplying it, than in their omitting it. Here it is:—

Warwick, Sept. 7—A sweepstakes of 10 sovs. each, for 3 year olds, colts 8st. 8lb., fillies 8st. 5lb. One mile. Ten subs.

Mr. Giffard's ch. c. Leviathan.......................... Arthur. 1
Mr. West's b. c. Shakspeare.................................... 2
Mr. Beardsworth's br. c. Chesterfield.......................... 3

And as to his being beat by a fresh horse, it was Leviathan's seventh race, and Shakspeare's fifth race that season.

Again, the Racing Calendar reports the Derby thus:—

Lord Egremont's b. c. Lap Dog, by Whalebone, dam by Canopy................ 1
(instead of "b. c, brother to Twatty," as stated in the advertisement of Shakspeare.)
Mr. West's b. c. Shakspeare, by Smolensko, out of Charming Molly by Rubens. 2

Now, as they profess to extract from the Racing Calendar, in the name of all that's fair let it be done correctly. Lap Dog beat him for the Derby, and he afterwards beat Lap Dog a shorter and less trying race, and for a less important stake.

St. Giles having beaten Margrave, and Lap Dog having beaten Shakspeare, has caused the gentlemen who own them to show wonderful ingenuity in proving that they were mistaken, but until they publish an amended edition of the Racing Calendar, we must contend for the old reading.

This is enough, perhaps, on this subject.

We now beg leave to propose to the owners of Stallions in the United States, and all others interested, an equitable and fair mode of recommending their horses and the get of them, to the Public. As their value depends on their racing qualities, and they expect patronage for that purpose and to that end, we propose TWO STALLION STAKES for horses that stand this Spring—one for TRIED, and one for UNTRIED STALLIONS. Entrance for each race the amount of ten seasons of the horse entered, Play or Pay—each stake to be for four races, as follows: in the Spring of 1842, Mile heats—in the Fall, Two mile heats—in the Spring of 1843, Three mile heats—in the Fall, Four mile heats. The race to come off on the Monday of the race week at Nashville Track. Notes with good security to be deposited at the time of entry, with the President of the Nashville Jockey Club, for the entrance money—five entries to make a race, and to close by the 1st of July.

This Stake will prove an inducement to breeders to patronize the Stallions entered in it, as it will ensure the testing of the racing capabilities of the get, and thus prove advantageous to all concerned. At least it will show the confidence that owners have in the horses they recommend to the public.

JAMES JACKSON & CO.

Nashville, March 28, 1838. [a7-3t]

LOUISVILLE JOCKEY CLUB RACES.

THE above Races, over the Oakland Course, will commence on Tuesday, the 15th day of May next.

First Day—The Breeders' Plate, given by the Proprietor, for 3 year olds that never started in a public race, value $100—Mile heats. To this race no subscription is required—it is intended to be given annually to the breeders. The entries must be named the same as if it was a sweepstakes, by the 1st day of May.

Same Day—A Sweepstakes for 3 year old colts and fillies, sub. $100, h. ft., Mile heats. To name and close 1st May next. Now 3 subs.

Second Day—The Oakland Plate, consisting of a splendid tea service of silver, value $500, for all ages, Two mile heats; the winner to take the plate or money at his option.

Third Day—Proprietor's Purse $500, ent. $50, Three mile heats.

Fourth Day—Jockey Club Purse $1000, ent. $100, Four mile heats.

Fifth Day—Proprietor's Purse $250, ent. $25, Mile heats, best 3 in 5.

The subscriber having recently purchased the Oakland Race Course, with the intention of fitting it up in a style inferior to none in America, and having the patronage of a Jockey Club, with rules and regulations, the same as other fashionable courses, new appeals to this City and the State, to determine whether or not they will have a respectable Racing Establishment at a point, of all others, the most eligible for the Kentucky Breeders.

The large amount of money that they now have vested in this sort of property, makes it all important that there should be some ground selected where they can have a good course and larger purses than have heretofore been offered. The South are, and will continue to be our purchasers. This is the place of all others to establish the character of our race horses, and one that is to derive more advantages from a well conducted establishment, than any other. The immense importance to this city in bringing together, twice a year, a large concourse of strangers, thereby causing an expenditure of money amongst us that we otherwise would not have, must be obvious to every one. To the breeder it offers an inducement to improve his stock, because in concentrating here in the Spring and Fall, a great many strangers from other States, it will insure a certain market, at high prices, for their horses.

The track will immediately be altered and improved, with a training course in the inside. The stands will be removed, enlarged, and placed in a position so as to afford the most entire view of the race to several thousand persons.

The Oakland House will be added to, and put on a footing with the best hotels in the country. Every thing shall be done to make this course worthy of Kentucky; and it is now left to her citizens to make it, by their patronage, the first establishment of the sort in the Union.

The Spring Races, from the number of horses in training, and the promise of every stable in the State to attend, will be of great interest.

Louisville, Ky., March 14, 1838. Y. N. OLIVER, Proprietor.

At the Fall meeting, to take place in October next, there are four large Sweepstakes, besides purses, for Four mile heats, $1200—Three mile heats, $600—Two mile heats, Plate, value $500—liberal purses for Mile heats, and Mile heats, best 3 in 5. [a7-tf.]
